PENNSYLVANIA

Gov. Shafer expects to confer this week with Republican legislative leaders on a timetable for the remainder of the 1968 session.

Pittsburgh's public school teachers call off their threat to strike or resign en masse on the first day of classes, say they are pleased with progress in bargaining.

THE NATION

With students heading back to school, President Johnson releases reports predicting billions more needed in public and private aid—and 500,000 more teachers—to meet school needs in the 1970s.

Congress reconvenes Wednesday, facing a long list of requests from President Johnson.

Richard M. Nixon says the outcome of the presidential election is unpredictable now because "people are wrought up" about issues rather than the candidates.

Hubert Humphrey confers with campaign manager, Lawrence O'Brien, then switches plans and decides to return to Washington for meeting of National Security Council.

Former Gov. George C. Wallace appeals for votes of millions of Americans who are not now registered to vote because of what he calls their "disgust" with policies and candidates of two major parties.

An earthquake hits Turkey three days after quakes devastated areas of neighboring Iran. First reports say at least 15 are killed and 200 injured.

SPORTS

The opening games in the Rec League Shaughnessy playoffs were played last night. City Ice and Beverage defeated DeVore's Keystone, 7 to 4. The Sub Shop sunk the Towne and Country by a 15 to 3 score.

The American Football League picks are made by the AP's resident prognosticator. He sees no new champions on the horizon in either division. Picked to repeat are the Oakland Raiders and the Houston Oilers.

Did you ever hear of Elmer Flick? Elmer won the American League batting title many years ago with an average but a few points above .300, for the record low. At this stage of the game, Tony Oliva, a former batting champion, is leading the American League. His average is a rousing .289. Did you ever hear of Ted Williams? He hit .406.

Don Neal has a very enlightening column on "wild trout" fishing in Pennsylvania. A good way to find out about this type of fishing is to read Don's column.

Two of the world's top tennis players lost in the opening matches of the $100,000 United States Open Championships, Rod Laver, the top-flight lefty from Australia, and Torben Ulrich, the Dane who looks like a hippie reject, lost in hard-fought matches.

The story in the National League is that any team can finish second, except the St. Louis Cardinals. Detroit stays atop the American League while the second place Baltimore Orioles are fading into the sunset.

MAN Felled BY SMOKE

Volunteer firefighters from Sheffield Tuesday afternoon responded to an apartment fire at Saybrook, just west of Sheffield, and discovered an unidentified man apparently overcome by

Nixon Launches Campaign, Terms Outcome 'Unpredictable'

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday the outcome of the presidential election is unpredictable now because "people are wrought up" about issues rather than the candidates.

He made the statement on the eve of his first campaign trip, a swing that will take him to all four sections of the nation.

"When people are more concerned about issues than men," Nixon said, "they make up their minds by what the candidates say about issues. This is the year when people are wrought up. Hence, the outcome is less predictable than it was in 1960."

In that year, he lost the presidential election to John F. Kennedy in the closest race in modern political history.

Nixon leaves Wednesday morning on a five-day trip that will take him to Illinois, California, Texas, Oklahoma and Pennsylvania. He starts in Chicago.

Later, he said, he will go into Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia and Florida. But he added that by naming these states he was not excluding others in the South.

Nixon said that in the final three weeks of his campaign he will concentrate on the big states, what he called "the big seven." They are New York, California, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Texas. They have a total of 210 electoral votes.

He said there are more undecided voters this year than when he ran against Kennedy in 1960 "because the issues are more volatile." He added, "Therefore, we can change a lot of people's minds."

Nixon and the press corps covering his campaign will travel in two airplanes temporarily named for his daughters, Tricia and Julie. The daughters were to christen the planes before takeoff for Chicago on Wednesday morning.

Nixon will motorcade through the Loop in Chicago, make an informal speech, and then leave himself free until he makes a statewide telecast at 9 p.m. It will take the form of a question-and-answer session with a panel.

In San Francisco, the Thursday schedule calls for a motorcade through the city's financial section and the colorful Chinese quarter.

Nixon speaks at the University of Santa Clara in San Jose Thursday night. His aides said he would be introduced by his erstwhile rival for the GOP nomination, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

On Friday his itinerary takes him to Houston where he will tour the National Aeronautics and Space Administration installations and receive a briefing. He has scheduled a speech at an outdoor rally in Houston Friday night.

The Saturday morning flight from Houston to Oklahoma City has been routed to take Nixon over the Arkansas River drainage project. An aide said Oklahoma Gov. Dewey Bartlett and Henry Bellmon, who served briefly as Nixon's campaign manager and is now a candidate for the Senate, will explain the project to him in flight.

He has a noon rally in Oklahoma City and then flies to Pittsburgh where a press conference is scheduled Sunday morning.

Ever since he opened his drive for the nomination in the New Hampshire primary, Nixon has campaigned in this relaxed fashion.

There were no early morning appearances at plant gates. He seldom delivered more than one speech in a day.

Humphrey Switches Plans After Talk with O'Brien

WAVERLY, Minn. (AP)—Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey conferred Tuesday with his campaign manager, Lawrence F. O'Brien, then switched plans and decided to return to Washington for Wednesday's meeting of the National Security Council.

The vice president had planned to spend all week at his lakeside home here to rest and plan for the normal launching of his campaign next week, starting in Philadelphia Monday.

But late in the day, in what Press Secretary Normal Sherman said was a "routine decision," Humphrey decided he would attend the session called by President Johnson to discuss the international situation both in eastern Europe and Vietnam.

Humphrey will return here Thursday for more meetings, then go to Washington Saturday for a television interview Sunday before heading for Philadelphia.

While other dates on next week's schedule have not been confirmed, Humphrey probably will go to Boston and San Francisco later Monday before heading on to Los Angeles and Texas next Tuesday.

O'Brien, who is doubling as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, spent the night in the pine-paneled Humphrey homestead guest house. He was accompanied by Joseph Napolitan, a long time political associate, and Ira Kapenstein, a personal aide.

Napolitan, whose Washington-based campaign service scored another success last week in the Alaska Democratic primary in which Mike Gravel ousted veteran Sen. Ernest Gruening, will do some polling and work on organizational matters for the vice president.

Humphrey was joined by two top aides, William Connell, his executive assistant, and Ted Van Dyk, who heads his traveling party, and Dr. Edgar Bertram, his physician and confidante.

Maine Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, Humphrey's running mate, is due back here Thursday.

Earthquake Hits Turkey; 15 Killed, 200 Injured

ISTANBUL (AP) — A strong earthquake struck northwestern Turkey on the Black Sea coast Tuesday, three days after a disastrous quake hit neighboring Iran.

The Ministry of Interior said 15 persons were killed and 200 were injured in or near Bartin, a city of 14,300 inhabitants 200 miles northeast of here.

But a spokesman said the death toll might rise substantially.

Record 688 Killed During Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A record 688 motorists and pedestrians were killed in traffic accidents on the nation's streets and highways in the three-day Labor Day weekend.

The toll far exceeded the previous record of 636 for summer's last holiday, set in 1966. It compared with 518 vehicle deaths during a recent nonholiday weekend of similar length.

The record toll, counted from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Monday, was more than 10 times greater than the number of Americans killed in combat in Vietnam during the same period. Military authorities in Vietnam said about 60 American servicemen were killed during the holiday period.

The worst single accident, involving two cars, took the lives of eight teenagers Sunday near Jamestown, N.D.

hally when Turkish army rescue crews reach another seven towns and 74 villages in the quake area.

He said the tremor was felt in a wide area from Sivas, 560 miles southeast of Istanbul, to Edirne, 150 miles west of the capital.

Reports reaching Istanbul said 23 homes and a mosque collapsed, three minarets toppled and 108 buildings were heavily damaged in downtown Bartin. It was also reported the town remained in total darkness after a power failure.

Bartin was believed to be close to the epicenter of the quake, the first serious one to be recorded in that region of Turkey.

Bartin is an important industrial district on the Black Sea, with canning, cement and brick factories.

School Bells Ring Today

The 1968-69 school year in Warren County begins this morning for hundreds of youngsters and school personnel. Police throughout the county urge motorists to observe extreme caution, particularly during the early stages of the year, when students are more apt to have forgotten good safety rules.

LBJ Releases Reports Predicting Billions Needed for Education

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — With students heading back to school, President Johnson released Tuesday two reports that forecast a need for billions more in public and private school aid—and perhaps 500,000 more teachers—to meet the education requirements of the 1970s.

But the look-ahead was something of a blending of "ifs," "ands" and "buts."

For example, instead of needing another 500,000 teachers by 1975, one document said, there could be a surplus of 700,000 teachers by that same year—if the school systems halt their march toward lower pupil-teacher ratios and increased preschool learning for the disadvantaged.

As was said in the preface to "Education in the Seventies," one of the booklets, the aim of the experts was not to state federal policy but to "stimulate discussion about the needs for education in the 1970s."

Johnson put out the reports, along with a memorandum from Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, as he neared the end of a lengthy Texas sojourn.

The President will return Wednesday to the White House where he will meet with the National Security Council to review the global situation—particularly events in Czechoslovakia and the reported Soviet troop threat to Romania. On Thursday he'll have another review session with the Cabinet.

Cohen's memo to the President emphasized the need for new billions and more teachers to continue what ex-teacher Johnson clearly regards as the progress in education during his administration.

But the fine print of the documents themselves offered alternative and often conflicting views on the same topic.

In what taxpayers might regard as the "good news" department, there were these findings:

"The increase in enrollments is very likely to taper off during the next decade." With the crop of war babies behind, total school enrollments in 1970 are projected at 60.5 million students—not an alarming increase from the 57.6 million estimated for the school year just starting.

—The battle against school dropouts is being won, if slowly. Whereas 29 per cent of those now entering the fifth grade drop out before graduation, the Office of Education panel said a continuation of current trends would cut this proportion to 22 per cent by 1975.

But the big unanswered questions in the minds of those who prepared the reports concerned willingness to expand the education system to reach the goal of fewer students per classroom and to offer preschooling to children of poorer income families. As for money, each report pointed to ever-higher outlays. The second booklet, "Students and Buildings," said that if Johnson's stated aim to remove financial barriers to a college education is to be attained, direct federal aid to students must be increased by some 400 per cent to about $21.1 billion by 1973.

Deputy Premier Resigns; Troops Begin Pulling Out

PRAGUE (AP) — Deputy Premier Ota Sik, father of Czechoslovakia's projected economic ties to the West, resigned Tuesday night, Prague Radio reported.

Sik has been in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, since before the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia on Aug. 21.

Prague radio said President Ludvik Svoboda accepted the resignation of Sik, who was one of the moving forces behind the ouster of former President Antonin Novotny from his job as Communist party chief in January.

Sik's economic policies aggravated the Soviet Union and he was reported to be on a list of persons whom the Soviet leaders do not want in leading positions in occupied Czechoslovakia.

Another is Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek, who is in Switzerland.

He aggravated the Soviets by seeking the support of Yugoslavia and Romania in what looked like a move toward a preWorld War II "Little Entente," an alliance that existed between Czechoslovakia and the two countries before 1939.

The moves came as the government readied a new censorship law that reportedly includes strict measures such as a ban on reporting news from abroad other than official announcements and a ban on reporting on persons, meaning any possible arrests.

Soviet forces began to pull out of some Czechoslovak public buildings Tuesday as national Communist leaders yielded to their demands.

Occupation troops withdrew from the headquarters of CTK, the national news agency, the radio station at Bratislava, President Ludvik Svoboda's headquarters in Hradcany Castle and most ministries. Soviet soldiers still guarded the Ministry of Defense and the Ministry of the Interior, which controls the police.

VC Pull Abortive Ambush On Convoy Near Saigon

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops pulled an abortive ambush on a U.S. convoy northwest of Saigon and launched two mortar attacks on a high U.S. headquarters and government provincial capital on the central coast, the U.S. Command reported Wednesday.

Enemy troops firing automatic weapons, mortars and powerful antitank rockets from three sides hit the U.S. 25th Division convoy late Tuesday 12 miles east of Tay Ninh City.

The U.S. Command said the enemy force was beaten back after a long firefight which cost the enemy 19 dead, one American was killed and 34 were wounded, eight seriously.

Enemy mortar men loosed two barrages on Nha Trang City early Wednesday, hitting civilian portions of the city and parts of a U.S. Army corps headquarters. One civilian was killed and 20 were wounded.

A government spokesman said 50 per cent of a 200-foot bridge just south of Rach Gia, 125 miles southwest of Saigon, was destroyed or damaged by explosives floated into the structure aboard an enemy sampan. Traffic along a route leading to the important delta provincial capital was halted.

Congress Faces Long List Of Demands from Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress reconvenes Wednesday faced with a long list of demands from President Johnson but with its members more concerned about their fate at the polls Nov. 5.

Leaders said they feel they have about four weeks to try to win up 1968 business.

After that, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said, it may be impossible to keep a quorum as more and more members leave Washington for the campaign trail.

In 1964, when Congress also resumed work after the national political conventions, final adjournment came Oct. 3.

If the 1968 session is to end around the same time, it is clear that a number of the 40 must items listed by the President will have to be dropped.

He announced such a list Aug. 5 shortly after the legislators began their recess.

Mansfield raised the possibility that Congress may have to recess again in October for the election drive, and then return in November.

But he said it is conceivable that only the Senate will have to stage a post-election session. This would be to act on confirmation of the bitterly disputed nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice of the United States and on ratification of the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

The Fortas nomination has not even been cleared by the Senate Judiciary Committee so far.

If it reaches the Senate floor, it is expected to bring on the hottest debate of any remaining item of congressional business.

Administration forces contend they have the votes for confirmation but a band of Republicans and southern Democrats threatens to try to prevent action with a filibuster.

Six major appropriations bills to run the government in the present financial year, which began July 1, remain to be cleared to the White House including the $72 billion defense measure.

Congress is likely to pass new legislation broadening gun controls but there will be a Senate fight over whether this will include registration.

However, prospects are dim for many other items on the President's Aug. 5 list.

In this category are reciprocal trade legislation, a child health program, a drug control bill, and the proposal to lower the voting age to 18.

All 435 House seats and 34 of the 100 Senate posts are at stake in the Nov. 5 voting.

Pentagon Issues Lowest Draft Call in 3-1/2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon issued Tuesday the lowest draft call in 3½ years with a request for 10,000 men for next November.

The manpower request, placed with the Selective Service System, is the lowest since March, 1965, when 7,900 men were inducted in a pre-Vietnam buildup.

All 10,000 inductees will be assigned to the Army.

The November request continues a pattern of declining monthly draft quotas this year. As many as 48,000 men were ordered drafted last April but the level has since dropped.

In October the Pentagon will take in 13,800 men. The announced call for September is 12,200.

Officials say the low quotas reflect the fact that fewer men will be leaving uniform in coming months. In 1967 draft calls averaged only about 18,300 and the recent manpower requests will provide replacements for many of those individuals who will be winding up two year tours next spring.

The low November call also indicates that inductions in

State Total 505

HARRISBURG (AP) — State Selective Service headquarters announced Tuesday that Pennsylvania will contribute 505 men to the November draft call.

The nationwide quota for November was set at 10,000. The October figure nationally was 13,800, of which Pennsylvania was ordered to supply 809.

December may drop below 10,000 for the first time since the Vietnam buildup began in the fall of 1965.

Traditionally men are drafted only during the first half of December, before the Christmas holidays.

Elderly Couple Killed in Crash

LAKEWOOD — An elderly Blockville couple was killed late Tuesday afternoon in an auto crash in Lakewood.

Mrs. Mabel Choate, 78, was pronounced dead at the scene. Her 81 year old husband, Elvin died shortly before 7:30 p.m. last night at WCA Hospital from injuries sustained in the crash.

Lakewood Police Chief Lee Kellogg said the couple's car veered off Route 173, glanced off a utility pole at Chautauqua avenue, then crossed the highway and struck another pole. The car, police said, traveled nearly 150 feet from the highway to the point of the crash.

Two of the couple's grandchildren were riding in the back seat of the auto, Katrina Hinderer, 15, was treated at WCA Hospital for a foot injury. Her six-year-old brother, David, was treated and released, apparently suffering no injuries, hospital officials said.

They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Hinderer, also of Blockville.

The twin fatality brought Chautauqua County's 1968 highway death toll to 29.

New Fortas Nomination Fight Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle over President Johnson's nomination of Abe Fortas to be Chief Justice of the United States will break out anew with the return of Congress Wednesday.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said he will try to get approval of Fortas' nomination by the Senate Judiciary Committee at a meeting to be held shortly before the Senate convenes.

Hart said he is confident a majority of the 16-member committee will vote to report the nomination favorably to the Senate—if it can be brought to a vote.

He made clear, however, that he expects to run into a filibuster by opponents of Johnson's nomination of Fortas to succeed Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., among committee members sharply critical of Fortas' rulings in obscenity cases, said "there will be considerable discussion" if an attempt is made to act on the nomination at Wednesday's meeting.

Cardinal O'Boyle Gives Dissident Priests Ultimatum

WASHINGTON (AP) — Termining their dissent "an attack on authority," Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle on Tuesday gave dissident Washington area priests until Sept. 14 to recant their views on birth control or face church penalties.

Fifth-two of the area's 385 Roman Catholic priests had signed a statement dissenting from Pope Paul's recent encyclical reaffirming the church's ban on artificial methods of birth control.

The priests contended that married couples may use artificial contraception "according to their consciences" in some circumstances.

One of them, the Rev. T. Joseph O'Donoghue, was removed by Cardinal O'Boyle from his post as assistant pastor at St. Francis de Sales Church last Saturday because of a birth control sermon.

Cardinal O'Boyle said Tuesday "I am not saying at this point what I will do" if the dissidents remain obdurate. He said he will deal with the cases individually, not as a group.

Canonical penalties could range from withdrawal of special privileges to suspension from a parish church.

But before his news conference, a spokesman for the dissidents said they would not retract, and after the news conference Father O'Donoghue said he was standing firm.

Teachers Call Off Strike And Mass Resignations

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh's public school teachers called off Tuesday their threat to strike or resign en masse on the first day of classes.

They said they were pleased with progress made in bargaining with the school board and with the promise of Gov. Shafer to back a new public employee law.

In nearby West Homestead, though, the first day of classes was postponed as most of the 24 teachers walked out, backing demands for raises to put them on a par with the city teachers.

"We have made good progress with the school board," said Albert Fondy, president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers, which represents most of the city's 3,100 teachers.

"That doesn't mean we are through, but we are willing to continue to talk in good faith," he said.

School Supt. Bernard J. McCormick called the federation's action "good news."

"I am tremendously relieved by the action of the PFT," which has assured that school will open with a full complement of teachers on Thursday," McCormick said.

Fondy said that 16 hours of weekend meetings with the school board were the key to the federation's decision to withdraw the strike threat.

The federation, which called some 800 teachers out on strike last winter, voted July 23 to resign en masse unless the state's 21-year-old public employee law, which penalizes those who strike is repealed. Gov. Shafer has a promise to back legislation removing the penalties.

Fondy said the school board had agreed to a statement recognizing the federation as the teachers' bargaining agent, the main issue in the 11-day strike last winter. The federation claims that a rival group, the Pittsburgh Teachers Education Association, is a tool of the board.

Pittsburgh teachers won a $600 across-the-board raise, but the strikers will not get it until the law is changed.

The increase brought the starting salary to $6,500.

West Homestead teachers, who start at $5,400, also want a $6,500 minimum. They said classes, scheduled to start Tuesday, would not start until they reach agreement with the board on salary and fringes.

There are about 500 pupils in West Homestead's two schools.

"In perspective" and "fair in view of today's labor market," the city's three-term Democratic mayor said.

But, Tate said he would not mediate the dispute, saying "in the final analysis, it is the responsibility of the Board of Education to resolve the new contract."

Cash to pay for any new wage settlement, however, probably will come from an increase in the current 2 per cent wage tax which is now being considered by the city council at Tate's request. Fiscal experts say an increase to 2 1/2 per cent would bring in an additional $30 million.

But Richardson Dilworth, school board president, said the teachers' demands, if granted, would cost the schools even more because salaries of principals, administrators and other personnel are linked to teachers' salaries and would have to go up proportionately.

The demands, he said, "would disrupt everything in the school system."

Earlier Tuesday, the Rev. Henry Nichols, vice president of the school board, announced the board had voted to seek an injunction to prevent the strike, threatened for Friday.

Also, Dilworth said some schools will remain open, even if the teachers' union does strike. The board's offer would have granted beginning teachers, now making $6,100, a $550 increase this year and another $550 the next year.

The teacher transfer policy long has been a point of contention. The federation wants to retain the present policy of voluntary transfers. The board says it wants the authority to order transfers to better integrate facilities.

Also negotiations are deadlocked over classroom sizes. The federation wants to cut classes to 25 and 30 for elementary and secondary schools by 1970. Classes now are not supposed to exceed 39, but the federation claims this limit is often exceeded.

Early Progress Predicted In Pueblo Case

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese Communist party leader who returned from North Korea Tuesday said there would be progress—soon—on the Pueblo problem.

The statement was made at a news conference by Kenji Miyamoto, secretary general of the Japan Communist party, who conferred with Pyongyang leaders during a recent visit to North Korea.

Miyamoto said regarding the Pueblo problem, "there would be progress, and more details of the incident would be disclosed on the occasion of the 20th anniversary of the founding of the People's Democratic Republic of (North) Korea Sept. 9." He refused to elaborate.

The U.S. ship Pueblo, with its 82 crewmen, was seized off Wonsan, a North Korean port, Jan. 23.

North Korea claims the Pueblo violated North Korea's territorial waters and said the crew would be released after the United States apologizes for the violation and promises to guard against future similar incidents.

The United States denies that the Pueblo violated communist waters.

State's First Transplant Patient 'Satisfactory'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bernard (Ben) Anolik, with the heart of a 22-year-old auto crash victim beating in his chest, gained some more in his fight for life Tuesday.

In a medical bulletin on the condition of the 46-year-old heart transplant patient, Presbyterian University Hospital said:

"During the hours since the operation ended, Ben has continued to improve. Physicians are pleased with the progress of his recuperation. Since the operation, he has been in a sterile area of the hospital's intensive care unit.

"Initially, a number of life support devices were routinely used. He now is almost totally on his own. His condition continues as satisfactory."

Anolik, a Pittsburgher and a former boxing promoter who had been afflicted with recurrent heart failure for several years, became Pennsylvania's first heart transplant patient Saturday when surgeons stitched the heart of the auto crash victim into his chest in a four hour and 10 minute operation.

The heart came from John Skultety, an insurance salesman from Lucernemines, Indiana County. Young Skultety suffered brain injuries early Saturday when his car rolled over a highway three miles south of Indiana, Pa.

Taken to Indiana Hospital, Skultety was later transferred to Presbyterian University where he died three hours later.

Doctors, with permission from Skultety's parents, began surgery 20 minutes later, transferring the heart from Skultety's body to the chest of Anolik, who had been hospitalized two months waiting for a donor.

Anolik and his wife, Esther, have seven children.

Cardinal Krol Seeking Recruits for Priesthood

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — John Cardinal Krol called for a "concerted and cooperative effort" of bishops, priests and parents Tuesday to encourage more young men to enter the Roman Catholic priesthood.

Cardinal Krol, spiritual leader of 1.4 million Catholics in the five-county Philadelphia archdiocese, said a steady decline in candidates for the priesthood has made it impossible to adequately staff parishes.

In a letter to priests, he said there will be only 30 new candidates in St. Charles Seminary this fall. This compared with 50 last year, 65 in 1966, 85 in 1965 and 94 in 1964.

The cardinal blamed the decline on the "weakness and dereliction of some priests."

He wrote, "Some, in an effort to disclaim responsibility for their own weakness and dere-liction lash out in strident criticism, not of a particular defect, but of the entire Church.

"Some become so intent on renewing the Church that they fail not only in the duty of self renewal, but even in the duty of preserving the vitality of their spiritual life.

"Such conduct does not inspire, but discourages vocations. It has impelled some youngsters to conclude: 'I want no part of that.'"

Cardinal Krol asked parish priests and teachers to begin reviewing the records of eighth-grade boys in order to find those "who would qualify for the priesthood and the religious life."

Noting the problems of a staff that's too small, he said, "These are anxious days for the Church, especially in her need for more priests, brothers and sisters."

Islanders Return Home After 22-Year Absence

BIKINI ATOLL, Marshall Islands (AP) — Nine men, representing 300 Bikini Islanders, came home Tuesday to this tiny island that has been kept clear of human inhabitants for 22 years because of nuclear tests.

"It's all changed, it's not the same," one man murmured.

The others nodded silently in agreement.

Reminders of the violence of nuclear explosions were plentiful. A great concrete block house seemed to crouch among crumbling rubble and the blasted tree trunks near the shore. Farther back, in dense jungle growth, a giant, stark communications tower reached skyward. The last test blast here was in 1958.

The men have lived on Rongerik or remote Kili while the United States 23 times unleashed the elements of nuclear energy on this Pacific atoll 2,500 miles from Honolulu.

But despite their unfamiliarity with the scene, the Bikinians guided ships and a small boat directly through coral reefs to the site of a cemetery where they once laid away those they loved.

Grave markers remained. The United States is planning to redevelop the atoll. Scientists say radiation levels have dropped to a point where it is again safe for habitation.

The Bikinians' rootlessness began in 1946. They were first moved to Rongerik Atoll. The migration was a failure. The fish in the lagoon proved to be poisonous.

The Bikinians were then moved to Ujae, then Kwajalein, and finally to Kili 20 years ago. The Bikinians still haven't been able to make a go of it on Kili. For one thing the island has no lagoon.

Some weeks from now the engineers, agriculturists and technicians of the official party will tell budget officers what they found and what it will cost to send all the Bikinians home.

Students Uncover Susquehannock Indian History

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dig those Indians—Susquehannocks, that is.

A Pennsylvania State University archaeological field school project is doing exactly that this summer, and probably next summer, too, scratching at the surface of one tiny but sticky period of American history.

The site is a 20-acre tract along the Susquehanna River in Lancaster County's Washington Borough where evidence, already discovered, shows the Susquehannocks lived there back in 1575.

Nearly 50 students have been excavating since late June under the direction of Dr. Joseph Michels, assistant professor of anthropology, and Samuel Casselberry, of Kutztown, a graduate student.

"The Susquehannocks were the most powerful Indian tribe in Pennsylvania during the early and middle years of the 17th Century," says Casselberry. "They were the dominant Indian population in Pennsylvania at the time of white contact."

"They apparently were pushed out of upper New York when they separated from the Cayuga Iroquois about 1550, and began working their way down into our state. As they moved, they made their influence felt on the peoples they conquered."

Michels said Penn State had concentrated in the summers of 1966-67 in the Sheep Rock Shelter, a cliff overhang along the banks of the Juniata River's Raystown branch in Huntingdon County.

Here were found only fragments of animal, fish and bird bones, arrow and spear points, pottery and baskets. But in Lancaster County Casselberry hopes to uncover full burial grounds and remains of houses in a village once occupied by 3,000.

Hope they dig it!

Lindsay Will Campaign For GOP Ticket in 6 States

(C) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Mayor John V. Lindsay will campaign for the Republican national ticket in at least six states during the next month, beginning with a trip Friday to Kansas and Nebraska.

The Republican mayor's campaign schedule, now being prepared by his office and the staff of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon, will be heavier than he has previously indicated and may take him to more than a dozen states before election day.

After returning from the Republican National Convention last month, Lindsay said that pressure of city business would restrict him to only "three or four" out-of-state campaign appearances.

But after a meeting between Nixon and Lindsay on Aug. 20, the candidate's staff has been preparing a tentative schedule that would take the mayor to Maryland on Sept. 12, Michigan on Sept. 26, Illinois on Oct. 4 and Ohio on Oct. 5.

The schedule emphasizes appearances designed to promote the entire Republican ticket, rather than a few selected congressmen. In Kansas and Nebraska, for example, Lindsay's principal appearances will be at state committee fund-raising dinners in Kansas City and Lincoln.

A primary purpose of the Maryland trip, however, will be the senatorial campaign of Rep. Charles M. Mathias, an old friend of the mayor's. Lindsay is also expected to campaign in Pennsylvania for Rep. Richard Schweiker, a friend who is running for the senate.

The Nixon campaign will be oriented toward control by state Republican organizations and Lindsay is one of the Republicans that state chairmen have been asking the presidential candidate to send.

"Lindsay has tremendous appeal in Ohio and the entire mid-west," said Robert Hughes, G.O.P. chairman of Guyahoga County, which includes Cleveland, in a telephone interview. "I told state headquarters that we needed Lindsay here more than anyone else—we need someone who has rapport with young people and city dwellers."

40 States to Get $4.3 Million For Riot Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department said Tuesday 40 states will get $3.9 million of $4.3 million in federal funds available for local riot control programs.

Under the terms of the grants, announced by Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, the states must put up one-fourth of the amount asked.

The funds are provided specifically for "programs and projects dealing with the prevention, detection and control of riots and other violent civil disorders," the attorney general said.

The grants, allocated on a population basis, ranged from a low of $6,329 for Wyoming to $414,989 for California. New York gets $397,154.

The money will be spent on various programs, including police-community relations projects; manpower training; chemical supplies and protective equipment for law enforcement personnel; and small arms and ammunition.

States which did not apply for the special funds before the Aug. 26 deadline may still request the same funds at a later date, the attorney general said.

Ed Muskie Shapes Up As Comfortable Candidate

(C) N. Y. Times News Service
KENNEBUNK BEACH, Maine — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, is shaping up as Ed Muskie, the most comfortable candidate for national office in the field this year.

Tuesday, Muskie strolled down from his five-bedroom summer home in this coastal resort village for a 35-minute news conference in the unpretentious main lounge of the Webhannet Golf Club.

He wore a casual blue blazer, grey slacks, and loafers. He sat hunched in an easy chair, and answered questions easily, even the most hypothetical ones, with his face breaking into a wrinkled smile.

"I've always found the role of underdog to be a very comfortable and routine one," he said. In Republican Maine in 1954, Muskie won election as the state's first Democratic governor in 20 years.

In the Senate, to which he was elected in 1958, he established himself as a hard worker and serious appraiser of issues.

Discussing the nationwide campaign Tuesday, he said Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey would take the "big spots" and more of the television time, while he himself would "fill in" the less important stops.

Even when he talked about important issues, such as the third party presidential campaign mounted by George C. Wallace of Alabama, Muskie struck newsmen as a low-key Yankee with a touch for understatement.

Wallace, he said, was "a very real threat" who would emphasize points such as law and order and white backlash.

"I think we've got to hit these two issues in a way that reflects our conviction but also gives people some perspective on them," he said. It would be, he continued, "almost a preacher's role."

When he was questioned again about the disorders surrounding the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last week, the senator suggested that everyone should "settle down and calmly analyze what went on."

When someone asked him about whether he has presidential ambitions for eight years hence if the Democratic ticket wins this fall and again in 1972, the senator grinned and replied:

"I'll tell you about that later after I get more feel about what it might be like to be vice president." He added that he intends to "urge my point of view vigorously" on Humphrey.

Based on his one or two encounters with crowds since becoming the party nominee, Muskie tends to take his time with handshaking. He has an easy-going manner and sometimes stops to talk with people.

Tuesday heightened the impression of a relaxed man during a second talk with reporters on his front lawn.

At this session, he talked mainly about the house, a two-story 56-year-old structure with pale yellow asbestos siding and a view of the Atlantic Beach "if you stretch your neck a little."

Three of the five Muskie children—Melinda, Martha and Ned—played on the lawn with Gregory Singleton, a 7-year-old Negro boy from Washington who has spent the summer here with the family.

There was talk about the rose bushes. Mrs. Muskie, who stood nearby, had suggested that they really needed fertilizing before the family headed back to their second home in Washington tomorrow morning.

Muskie, however, opted for a round of golf.

Berkeley Council Cancels Demonstration Permit

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The City Council, citing violence over the holiday weekend, canceled on Tuesday a permit for a five-hour street demonstration this Saturday on Telegraph Avenue.

"You are going to find a reaction that you won't be able to handle," a representative of the sponsoring group, Jack Bloom of the Independent Socialist Club, said at the council meeting, which attracted an overflow crowd.

"You're using the acts of a few individuals to destroy any opposition," said Bloom. "The people are not going to take kindly to cutting off Saturday night. You're going to have a meeting whether or not you permit it."

Telegraph Avenue is a narrow street—lined with small shops and bookstores—that runs southward from the University of California campus in this San Francisco East Bay city of 120,000.

It was relatively quiet Tuesday, said Police Capt. W.N. Stahr, as police enforced a "state of civil disaster" regulation proclaimed Monday by City Manager William C. Hanley.

Councilmen, at their meeting, backed indefinite continuation of the regulation.

The Haney regulation prohibits loitering in any public places, including the university campus, between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. It also bans meetings or use of sound trucks on streets or other public property and assures Berkeley police and fire department assistance under a mutual-aid pact with nearby communities.

Monday night and early Tuesday police made 24 arrests, bringing to 55 the total since Friday night after a rally called to protest police methods used in Chicago at the Democratic National Convention.

Groups sponsoring the weekend rally were the Black Panthers, a militant Negro group; Students for a Democratic Society, the International Socialist Association, the Young Socialist Alliance and the Peace and Freedom Party.

Vice Mayor Wilmont Sweeney said hoodlums had infiltrated the protest rally and told councilmen "the danger has not passed."

Spiro Agnew Will Address Young Republicans

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Maryland Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, Republican vice presidential nominee, heads the list of speakers scheduled to address the biennial convention of the Pennsylvania Young Republicans here this week.

Agnew is slated to speak at the opening session Thursday night at the Hotel Yorktowne. Approximately 600 members of the statewide organization will attend the convention, which ends Saturday.

Other speakers listed on the program include U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott and U. S. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, Republican candidate for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, a Democrat.

The Young Republicans will elect a new chairman from among three candidates — Robert W. Dittmar of Montoursville, Lycoming County; Robert Gleason of Johnstown, and Jack Roumick of Norristown.

Wallace Makes TV Appeal To Unregistered Voters

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
WASHINGTON — Former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama made a nationally televised appeal Tuesday night for the votes of millions of Americans who are not now registered to vote because of what he called their "disgust" with the policies and candidates of the Democratic and Republican parties.

In his first paid national television appeal as a third-party candidate for president, Wallace thus asked directly for the support of citizens apathetic about or disgruntled over what he has repeatedly called the "just alike" courses being followed by the two major parties.

The Gallup Poll estimated last week that 29 million persons of voting age have thus far failed to register for the 1968 presidential election, presumably in part for the reasons Wallace stated.

The candidate's exhortation to his viewers to make sure they are properly qualified and registered to vote on Nov. 5 — to make sure, as he put it, that "you have a chance to join with millions of other concerned Americans in making your voice heard" — was the only discernible new element of the paid color telecast over more than 200 stations of the National Broadcasting Co. in all sections of the country.

The balance of the 30-minute broadcast which Wallace aides said cost about $250,000, including advertising and promotion expenses, consisted of filmed excerpts from earlier Wallace rallies and news conferences around the country. The films were made by a commercial camera crew hired by Wallace campaign headquarters to accompany the candidate.

The outcome of a behind-the-scenes controversy within the Wallace staff over the format of Tuesday's program, however, showed that proponents of a plan to project a "cooler" image of Wallace on national television than the admittedly "not" image he develops at his rallies and news conferences had lost their bid to have the candidate deliver an address designed, as one aid put it, "to round off some of his rough corners for the home screen."

Tuesday's broadcast, seen in the eastern time zone from 7:30 to 8 p.m., originally was to have consisted of a color videotape, of a speech he made at a rally in the Long Beach, Calif., Civic Arena of the night of Aug. 26. That speech was a 30-minute version of his unvarying, 50-minute rally speech, fit to the shorter videotape format.

However in the Long Beach speech, Wallace deleted a number of his most colorful and crowd-pleasing phrases, such as his frequent charge that members of the United States Supreme Court are "sick" and "insane."

The decision to abandon the videotape and to substitute for it the filmed program was made over the weekend "because we just didn't think George was selling the audience in that short a time," according to one Wallace aide. "He just wasn't very hot on the tape," the aide said. Some staff members, however, thought the tape was "good for the television audience."

Another Wallace staff official said that the decision was based entirely on "the technical quality of the tape, which was lousy, particularly the sound." N.B.C. spokesmen, however, said the tape was of network quality.

In the filmed portions of rallies and news conferences at Houston, Tex., Albuquerque, N. M., Hammond, Ind., and Chicago shown Tuesday, Wallace made his familiar pledge to restore "law and order" and to end "the kowtowing by both national parties to every anarchist group that roams the streets." Among other things he said he would seek the repeal of the Federal Opening Housing Act and the "return of your local schools to local control."

The new appeal to unregistered voters to qualify and lend him their support was contained in a separate four-minute portion of the program.

Commissioners Table Painting Job Until Spring

Warren County commissioners met in brief session Tuesday and voted to table painting of trim on the court house, the annex and county jail until next spring when they will again advertise for bids.

While it was planned to open bids for the paint job Tuesday, none were received. The commissioners were advised that it was probably too late in the fall to undertake a project of this proportion. In changing the trim from gray to white, two coats will be needed.

Bids for carpeting for the main court room, assessment and mapping office and personal property office and machine room in the basement, will be received until 10 a.m. Sept. 16 at the county commissioners' office. Successful contractor will be required to enter into a contract within 10 days after bids are opened.

Blain M. Mead was named to represent the county on the executive board of Kinzua Dam Vacation Bureau.

Bills in the amount of $3,484.15 were approved for payment.

Miss Karen Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Olson, of R.D. 2, Bath, Pa., former Warren residents, has won the Northampton County Junior Miss title. Olson served as an elementary school principal and supervisor of elementary education in Warren Borough schools.

Banks Plan Joint Project To Finance Jet Exports

(C) N.Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The United States' largest banks are working on a joint project to form a multimillion-dollar company to finance exports of jet aircraft, and possibly other major "big-ticket" exports as well.

The proposed company — to be called the Private Export Finance Corporation — would be largely, if not exclusively owned by the banks. It would be designed to play a major role in facilitating sales of aircraft to foreign airlines. The sales are projected at some $13 billion over the next 10 years.

The proposal comes at a time when the United States trade surplus, traditionally the strongest element in the nation's balance of payments, has dropped alarmingly. In the second quarter, net exports were at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $900 million, compared to $5.4 billion in the third quarter last year.

Given the magnitude of the financing requirements for jet aircraft in the years ahead, a key Washington official said Tuesday, the role of such a company as private export finance corporation could be crucial in rebuilding the nation's trade surplus.

It was acknowledged, however, that getting the plan off the ground would probably require endorsement by the State, Treasury and Commerce Departments, the Federal Reserve Board and perhaps the White House since most of the potential foreign airline customers are government owned.

The plan has its origin in work done several years ago by the Bankers Association for Foreign Trade, which was concerned about the problem of financing jet exports, especially with the coming of giant Boeing 747's, which may cost as much as $25 million apiece.

At the same time, the Federal Aviation Agency was also concerned with finding financing facilities for the supersonic transport, which is now in development.

A rough outline of the proposal was developed by a group headed by August Maffry, former head of the International Department at the Irving Trust Co. and now a senior consultant to the Bank of America in New York.

Eventually, Maffry's role was taken over by James W. Bergford, a senior vice president at the Chase Manhattan Bank, who in turn hired the investment banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co., Inc. to make an exhaustive study of the problem.

Dillon Read presented a confidential report to the banks last April, proposing at least two possible solutions to the problem of financing jet exports.

One of these was the private export finance corporation. The idea is expected to be aired publicly at a meeting of the Aerospace Industries Association of America scheduled for early next month.

The essence of the Dillon, Read idea is that the Export-Import Bank of Washington, a government agency that now handles much of the medium and longer term financing of aircraft, would guarantee the loans made by the private Export Finance Corporation, which in turn would sell bonds to the public backed by these government guaranteed obligations.

Gov. Shafer's PR Secretary Will Work on Schweiker Campaign

HARRISBURG (AP) — Jack L. Conmy, public relations secretary to Gov. Shafer, was named Tuesday as the communications director of the Schweiker for Senate campaign.

The announcement was made here by U. S. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, the Republican candidate for the Senate seat now held by two-term incumbent Joseph S. Clark.

Conmy will take a leave of absence from his state post, Schweiker said.

Conmy, 36, recently returned to his $22,500-a-year job after handling public relations in behalf of Pennsylvanians supporting Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

The High Cost of Vandalism

Vandalism—from the cost of forest fires caused by carelessness to the cost of cleaning up a broken bottle that was thrown against a rock in a park or recreation area—is costing the nation $12 million a year. Add to this the hidden cost of lost esthetic beauty brought about by acts of vandalism and the cost soars to tremendous figures.

So it is interesting to note the results of a survey conducted by Brigham Young University to determine the attitudes of various age groups toward public property, especially as they relate to the areas where the citizens of the nation prefer to spend their idle hours in close association with nature.

The researchers designed a questionnaire to measure the attitudes towards vandalism and negligence, and determine what kind of action people might take against unlawful or dangerous acts they happened to witness.

From these questionnaires they learned that older people showed more concern than the young. Only 26 per cent of those 14-25 years old showed true concern, compared to 50 per cent of those 60 or older. Single people showed more concern than married. But among the widowed, divorced, and separated, there was less concern for our public resources.

Men were much more likely to take action against violators than women, and a strong correlation was found between the length of time people lived in a community and their concern for its resources. Urban dwellers also showed more concern; with the open country, non-farm residents showed the least concern; with those living in small villages or towns, in between.

Compared to the national figures, vandalism on the Allegheny Nation Forest is high. A report from a staff member, after a check of all four districts, indicates that vandalism alone cost around $3,000 last year and no estimate could be made on the losses from littering and other acts contributing to a loss of scenic beauty.

Evidently these local figures bear out what was revealed by the national survey. We as a community do seem to have a lack of concern for the natural beauty of our country-side and the recreation facilities that enhance its attractiveness. Until we come up with some means of overcoming the apathetic attitude which presently exists, the community as a whole will continue to suffer this unnecessary annual loss.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Toujours Humphrey

In the wee hours after Hubert Humphrey's acceptance speech in Chicago the fatigue that came naturally to all who had participated actively or passively in those horrible convention days was relieved by the momentary exhilaration that Hubert Humphrey provided by his juicy rhetoric. The question was—Is it will the exhilaration last into the morning, into this week: Into the first week of November.

It was an awfully brave try. The difficulties were staggering. The mood of the minority was, as we all know, not merely mutinous, but mutinous in that especially determined way that characterizes the morally arrogant. But even before Humphrey began to speak, the fences were being put together. The honor escort that brought Hubert Humphrey to the podium was conspicuous only for the absence of Rose Kennedy. Everybody else who represented a voting bloc larger than a couple of city squares was there, including Jesse Unruh of California, who two days before had characterized the President of the United States, the superior, the friend, and the hero of Hubert Humphrey, as that "cowboy from Texas." The eulogical juices were clearly stirring, and the speech lost no time in dispensing balm to right and to left, mostly to left, as one would expect considering that the right was already with him.

Mr. Humphrey got his biggest cheers by insisting that he would devote himself primarily to ending the war in Vietnam. Here he showed great skill. What he said about his devotion to peace in Vietnam is not anything at all more than Richard Nixon or Barry Goldwater would be willing to say. But Humphrey said it in ways so wonderfully acquiescent to the left, merely by closing tight over his shoulders spare the cloak of loneliness and righteousness, thus giving the impression of speaking for the desolate minority, against the obdurate majority. Neat. But whenever it appeared to be going a little too far in the direction of McCarthy, he would weave in a right-sounding cliché, preferably obscure, my favorite of all being, "winning the presidency is not worth a compact with extremism." Nobody was identified as an extremist, certainly not McCarthy; but it sounded very good, and Mayor Daley beamed.

He came out for law and order. Correction, for law and order otherwise designated. "Law and order" stand condemned as code words for blacklash. So he used every other conceivable formulation—but quickly balanced it with orotund condemnations of police brutality, authoritarianism, etc. At which point even California, New York, and Wisconsin began to purr.

Then there were the conventional promises of housing, education, health. Mr. Humphrey has been stressing these for so long that whole generations have been housed, educated, and buried since first he began to develop this routine. That may be why he has become a little sloppy by for instance—in defense of public housing—asking "where shall they live?" a rhetorical formulation more appropriate to, "where shall it stick 'em?" And then he said that he was all for education for everyone "anxious and willing to learn." If that were America's only educational responsibility, we could close down half our schools.

But his triumph was in the crafty introduction of Lyndon Johnson's name. What exquisite care. The wind-up, fortunately, did not begin with Andrew Jackson, but almost, almost. By the time he had recited the virtues of FDR, Truman, Stevenson, and Kennedy, he had the crowd so primed to react that if he had mischievously substituted the name of Mayor Daley where Lyndon Johnson's was rhythmically scheduled, he would probably have got the poor Mayor the greatest ovation of his life.

Did it work, beyond the success of the evening? The spectacle was lacking in the analytical connective tissue that makes long speeches ultimately bearable. Humphrey is tough, and he will not let pride stand in the way of his designs. But he is, essentially, engaged in a circle-squaring enterprise. He may succeed—other politicians have—but it is tougher going even than catalyzing the enthusiasm of such opposites as sat at the Chicago Amphitheatre on Thursday, who, many of them, probably hated themselves in the morning for applauding Humphrey the night before.

Neither blatantly promised elimination of any tax (as did Governor Leader in 1954 for example) and both were somewhat doggedly outspoken in indicating that additional tax revenues would be indeed needed if demands for this or that service or services were to be met. This is a tough but more or less honest line to tow, but virtually a modern day demand in contemporary gubernatorial.

This year isn't a gubernatorial year however and from the standpoint of the strategists, the less said on the subject the better!

MASON DENISON

No Sore Question

Pennsylvania News Service HARRISBURG—In one sense at least this is an "easy" campaign year insofar as political strategists of both parties in Pennsylvania are concerned.

That "one sense" revolves around the simple, pleasing and unadulterated fact that this year Keystone State finances are not the issue that usually pop to the fore every four years—when a governorship is at stake.

In the November runoffs now in the sprint stage, concern is with the national, statewide and legislative offices that orbit outside the overriding realm of gubernatorial years when the sore question is raised as to how much new tax money the gubernatorial aspirant is going to need to run his administration.

About the last thing to be talked about in this campaign—by either Democrats or Republicans—is the question of Pennsylvania's tax needs next year or the following year.

The subject simply is not germane at the moment, nor will it be throughout the rest of the campaign calendar; too many other high focusing issues are destined to be raised in this presidential year.

In other words, in "off-election" years, such as this—"off" from the gubernatorial standpoint, that is—the question of whether Pennsylvania is to modify its tax structure (and "modify" in these times inevitably seems to mean "increases") becomes one of those things campaign strategists of both parties won't even bother with; too many other issues are overshadowing.

In the present case the Shafer Administration has said virtually nothing up to this point on what the tax needs might be for Pennsylvania's legislative body to consider next year. Who then remains to raise the issue? Certainly opposition Democrats aren't going to come out for increasing Pennsylvania's already hefty taxes (even though this were not a presidential)!

In actuality the subject almost never comes up in this type of election year—and in this sense such campaign years (as 1968) fall in the category of "easy" campaign years.

Thus, do not look for the tax carrot to pop out of the ground in 1968; there's nothing to pop out anyway.

Gubernatorial 1970 is something else. Unquestionably the subject will come up with considerable vigor at that time. It always has in the past and we can't see any reason why it shouldn't two years hence.

When it does though, it will be interesting to see whether it appears with the "honesty" with which it did during Mr. Scranton's campaign in 1962!

Would-be chief executives like to skirt the issue as much as possible, even though they know very well they can't do it. They oftentimes wind up promising economies, greater efficiency, hold-the-tax-line, etc., but in the showdown once in office, "the story changes" and new or increased taxes become the new order of the day.

Interestingly, both Governor Scranton and incumbent Governor Shafer during their campaigns were rather candid on the subject of the possibility of new or additional taxes if elected to office.

Neither blatantly promised elimination of any tax (as did Governor Leader in 1954 for example) and both were somewhat doggedly outspoken in indicating that additional tax revenues would be indeed needed if demands for this or that service or services were to be met. This is a tough but more or less honest line to tow, but virtually a modern day demand in contemporary gubernatorial.

This year isn't a gubernatorial year however and from the standpoint of the strategists, the less said on the subject the better!

they still could be replaced, because I think our visit would have been that much more interesting, and that much more of a pleasure if this information had been available. I appreciate that this area has been set aside for succeeding generations; it is a quiet, impressive, and enjoyable place. And best of all, neither the picnic area nor the paths were crowded with people.

Sincerely,
Rev. Bertil A. Erling

Chose to Protect FDR's Career

WASHINGTON—Mr. Henry Jay MacMillan of Wilmington, N.C., has thrown more light on the romance of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Mrs. Winthrop Rutherford, formerly Lucy Mercer, which Jonathan Daniels has so carefully documented in his latest book, "Washington Quadrille." Mr. MacMillan was associated with Elsie Cobb Wilson, who had previously told me something about her part in sidetracking a Roosevelt divorce.

"I did designing for Elsie Cobb Wilson from 1929 until the depression put an end to the big decorating jobs," writes Mr. MacMillan, referring to the Washington socialite who later married Gen. Louis Little of the U.S. Marine Corps. "One evening at Mrs. Little's (Elsie Cobb Wilson) house in Georgetown, 3010 0st., she told me in great detail about the Mercer-Roosevelt affair."

"There are several points that have never been brought out as far as I know. "Miss Mercer worked in Mrs. Wilson's shop at 1700 H St., N.W. When Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Cobb died, Mrs. Wilson gave her lovely new clothes to Miss Mercer as she was going into mourning. It was amusing that Mrs. Wilson attributed much of Lucy Mercer's great social success to her own wardrobe."

"When FDR asked Eleanor to divorce him they arranged to meet on the neutral territory of Elsie Cobb Wilson's apartment at the Drake in New York."

"Roosevelt went to New York for the conference and when he returned by train in the early morning hours Mrs. Wilson met him at the station."

"Mrs. Wilson described to me dramatically how fatigued and dejected Roosevelt looked in the dim light of the dawn. He told Mrs. Wilson that, although he had pleaded, Eleanor had refused to divorce him because it would put an end to his political future."

The only footnote to history which might be added here is that although FDR won the reputation of being a great politician, Mrs. Roosevelt obviously had a better insight into politics."

Vice President Humphrey has been criticized for fluctuating on the Vietnam war issue on the eve of the Democratic convention. The inside story is that he was merely reflecting President Johnson's backstage attitude.

At an Aug. 9th meeting at the LBJ ranch, the President held out the possibility that he might order a complete halt of the bombing. Humphrey went away cheered, and began taking a softer line. Meanwhile, the North Vietnamese representatives in Paris flatly refused to offer any sign that they would also de-escalate the fighting.

This angered the President. He then returned to his hard line against a bombing cessation. The unhappy Humphrey, caught in a dovish posture, had to maneuver back as gracefully as possible into a hawkish stance.

The "Claiborne Pell Special," the nickname

ART BUCHWALD

'Is There a Doctor in the House?'

After every political convention, doctors are called in to bind the wounds and strengthen the heart of the party. The house doctor for the Democratic Party is Dr. Heinrich Applebaum, who arrived on Friday. "Mein Gott," he said horrified. "What happened? I never saw such a mess." "We tried to get you as soon as possible, Doctor."

"I didn't have the right credentials to get through the police lines." "Hurry, Doctor, do something."

"Well, first we better get the tear gas out of here. The party can't breathe and the pulse is very bad."

"We've tried to bring in fresh air, Doctor, but tear gas has now become a symbol of the party, and it's making us all cry."

"What happened to the left arm of the party? It's almost been severed."

"It occurred during the platform fight on Vietnam, Doctor. We gave first aid, but we don't know if we can save it or not."

"It's badly bruised."

"Dr. McCarthy said the arm must go. What do you think, Dr. Applebaum?"

"It doesn't look so good, but I don't see how the party can function without it. The right arm seems shaky. How did that happen?"

"Credententials fight. We lost a lot of blood. Dr. George Wallace took a look at it and said the right arm ought to come off, too."

"Has anyone thought to give the patient a transfusion?" "Yes, Doctor, but at this stage it's hard to find any donors. People think it's a hopeless case."

"Nothing hopeless," Dr. Applebaum said angrily. "But I'm going to have to operate immediately."

"What are you going to do?" "First we have to stitch up all the wounds that the party got here in Chicago. I'm going to have to do some plastic surgery on the face, and change the image. And I'm going to have to cut out as many bones of contention as I can. Look, this Humphrey rib has been leaning on this Johnson muscle and it can't grow that way. I don't want to remove the Johnson muscle altogether, but the less we see of it now, the better chance the patient will have of winning back its health!"

"I know it's a terrible thing to ask, but does it look like we've got a chance?"

"I think I can keep the party alive, but I'm not sure if it will recover from the shock by November."

How Low Would Help You

The massive 1968 housing law contains revolutionary benefits for families across the economic spectrum, ranging from the low income $3,000-$7,800 family desperately seeking decent housing to the middle-income family dreaming of the luxury of a second vacation home.

It's a 300-page giant of an act and as I reported yesterday, even housing specialists admit they're not yet aware of all the implications of its clauses.

With the guidance of Eli Warach of Prentice-Hall, though, I've put together the following simple summation of how two key provisions would work for you.

Let's say you're John and Sue, with two boys 15 and 13, a girl 11, and one paycheck of $6,900. You're looking to buy a house in which to live and bring up your youngsters during their crucial teenage years.

A builder nearby has a new house priced at $18,000 which represents perfection to you but you couldn't possibly meet the monthly charges on your income.

Nevertheless, you go to your local bank, or savings & loan association, say you're buying the house and you apply for a mortgage. Now:

First, you deduct from your gross income $300 for each child, bringing down your effective gross income for this law to $6,000. (Even if one of your boys had a job, his earnings wouldn't matter, for under this law, earnings of minors don't count toward your gross.)

Then, you make a down payment of 3 per cent or $540. This brings your mortgage into the $17,500 range.

Now, your monthly payment will come to about $146. This covers a 35-year mortgage at 6 1/2 per cent, mortgage insurance premium, taxes and property insurance.

You can't afford $146 a month, not at your pay and with four dependents, but heed this: The law requires you to pay only 20 per cent of your monthly income.

In your case, this comes to $100 and this you can manage. The Department of Housing & Urban Development (HUD) will pay the $46 a month difference.

The bank would be protected: these mortgages are insured by a new Special Risk Insurance Fund, set up to pay off should you have to default. The lending institution also would get the going mortgage rates in its area, making the whole deal highly attractive. You would get decent housing and your kids would get an essential break. The entire economy would be helped. As far as builders and investors are concerned, Warach says "the profit opportunities are tremendous. Profits can zoom for those who take part in this great program to provide decent homes."

Now let's say you're John and Sue, with two boys 15 and 13, a girl 11 and a paycheck several times $6,600. You're longing for a second home but don't have much ready cash and until now, no bank has been willing to give you mortgage money.

You find your dream spot by exploring a new road to a nearby lake (or mountain, beach, forest, fishing stream, golf course, etc.) You find a builder willing to put up your house for $20,000—cheap enough because the house is not built for year-round occupancy.

You go to a local bank, arrange for an FHA insured mortgage of $15,000; permissible for the first time under the 1968 law. You put down 25 per cent of the appraised value, say $5,000. You're set and move in to vacation happily forever after.

Or if you're a do-it-yourselfer, you put up a shell. Under the 1968 law, savings & loans can make loans on vacation houses for the first time up to $5,000. These loans, moreover, do not have to be secured by a first mortgage on the property.

The liberalized financing arrangements should spur a new boom in second homes, already a reality for more than 1,000,000 families, Warach believes. These are only two illustrations of how the act could work. There are many more stimulants, for low income rental housing, mobile homes, college housing, condominiums, nursing homes, medical centers, and so on.

Of course, Congress will have to appropriate billions. Delays may force postponement of some of the act's provisions. But I cannot overestimate the simple fact that the law is on the books, the way has been opened. Now the next administration and Congress need not break through; all they have to do is follow through.

Letter To The Editor

Forest Supervisor Allegheny National Forest Warren, Penna.

Dear Sir:

With some friends I visited Heart's Content Scenic Area yesterday afternoon. It was a pleasant place, and very interesting to look at a forest of virgin timber in our area. Our only disappointment was that of all the interpretative signs only one remained intact. I presume that they are removed by people who have little interest in the forest, and less interest in other people. However, I wonder if

Russell Area News and Notes

By MRS. HELEN LINDELL
Phone: 757-4415

The V.F.W. Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Donald Merkle with a tureen supper served to twelve members and four guests present. Mrs. Elmer Roberts presided at the business meeting.

Plans were made to have a booth at the Sidewalk Festival in Warren, Sept. 27-28. The memorial plate committee announced they would have the plates of the Old Russell Covered Bridge on sale. Also members are asked to donate handwork, fresh vegetables, bake goods, etc. for the sale. Articles for the sale should be brought to the September meeting or to anyone of the committee by Friday morning. The committee members are Mrs. Tom Lundberg, Mrs. Merkle or Mrs. Roberts.

All members are asked to assist with the cleaning bee on September 12. Come any time during the day if only for an hour or two. Tentative plans are for a sale of books, household items, games, toys, tools or any resalable items, some time in October.

Mrs. Merkle won the mystery gift.

Committee members for the September 25 meeting are Mrs. Kenneth Ohmer, Mrs. Alice Kiteinger and Mrs. Paul Lindell. Election of officers will also be held at the September meeting.

The Win Them Class and Sunday School teachers of the Russell Methodist Church will meet Tuesday evening, Sept. 3, at the home of Mrs. Richard Knos, with Mrs. Bennie Baxter as co-hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt and family spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arthur at Matamoras, Pa.

Mrs. Flora Atkins and Mrs. Eugene Spencer attended the funeral of Mrs. Adriel Peters at Venango, Wednesday.

Wednesday evening following services at the Faith Bible Church, the group went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beardsley, who have purchased a home on the Klanton road, for a housewarming. They were presented a gift by the group.

Last Sunday evening Rev. Eric Edmund of the Jamestown Mission Covenant Church was guest speaker at the Russell Faith Bible Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morehouse and daughter Mary of Kennilong, N.J., Mr. and Mrs. William Hasse of Bloomfield, N.J., and Mr. and Mrs. William Hogue and daughter Martha of Cleveland, Ohio were weekend guests of Mrs. Flora Atkins and the Spencer family. Sunday guests included Mrs. Bertha Gartfield and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Phillips of Frewsburg, Mr. and Mrs. David Atkins and daughter of Jackson Run.

Bennie Baxter, Gerald Stanton and Clarence Brewster left Friday evening on a fishing trip at Seneca, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noyes of Painted Post, N.Y., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox.

Mrs. Avis Rosendahl has returned home from Chautauqua where she has been employed during the summer.

Saturday, Andrew Lindell, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Branstrom and family, Mrs. Avis Rosendahl, also Mrs. Raymond Hannah, of Jamestown, Mrs. Donald Hayden and son, of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lindell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lindell and family, of Lander attended a picnic at the Lyndell camp at Buchers Mills where Rev. and Mrs. Delbert Jolley and family were spending the week. City Ice and Sub Shoppers Win Games in Rec Playoffs

By DAVE PIRILLO

City Ice and Beverage and the Warren Sub Shop moved out in front in the first round of the Rec League's Shaughnessy Playoffs. The Beveragemen uncorked their first victory against DeVore's Keystone 7-4, while the Submariners slammed Towne and Country to the ground on a 15-3 count.

City Ice struck hard and quick on the Keystones by putting together five hits with a few free passes and a couple of misuses to come up with a first inning 5-0 lead.

Charley Pettit budgeted the lead to his advantage in picking up victory number 31. His five-hitter put Dave Holmberg on the losing end of the deal.

Gene Chieffo paced the victors with a 3-3 evening, while Frank Suppa doubled and Bill Cummings got loose for a triple.

The only extra base knock for DeVore's Keystone was a double by Barry Dietrich.

Four errors in the first inning

Fleisher Named For Golf Match In Australia

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce Fleisher, the freshly crowned U.S. Amateur champion from Miami, Fla., was named Tuesday to the four-man American team for the World Amateur team Golf Championships at Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 9-12.

The others named by the U.S. Golf Association are Marvin Giles III, 25, of Lynchburg, Va., who was second by one stroke to the 19-year-old Floridian in the amateur championship; Jack W. Lewis Jr., 21, of Florence, S.C., seventh in the amateur and a Walker Cup player in 1967; and Richard L. Siderow, 31, of Westport, Conn., the low amateur in the U.S. Open championship.

Mike Burton Breaks Record

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — UCLA's Mike Burton shattered the world record for the 1,500-meter freestyle by 20 seconds Tuesday night with a clocking of 16 minutes, 8.5 seconds in the U.S. Men's Olympic swimming trials.

En route, he broke the 800-meter record in 8:34.34. Burton bettered the pending world record for this metric mile freestyle that was set by Guillermo Echevarria of Mexico when he beat Burton this summer in 16:28.1.

Although eight started the final race on the five-day program, it became a duel between Burton and 16-year-old John Kinsella, Hinsdale, Ill.

Kinsella finished second in 16:24.39, making him the second fastest of all time for the distance.

The 800-meter time bettered the record of 8:42.0 set by Francis Layce at Dinard, France, in July 1967.

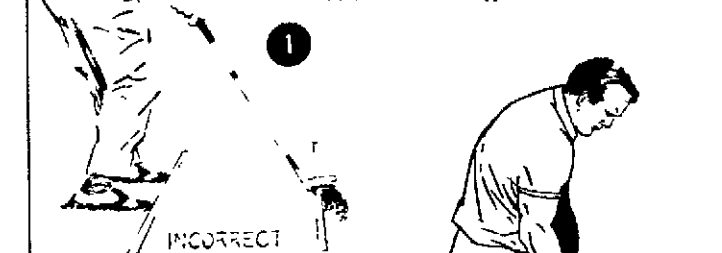

HARD LUCK HURLER

DENVER (AP) — In right hander Danny Morris' first six starts for the Denver Bears in the Pacific Coast League this year, his mates scored a total of six runs. Morris won one game 1-0 and lost the others by 2-1, 3-2, 1-0, 3-1 and 2-1.

GOLFING WITH Arnold Palmer
Golf's first million dollar P.G.A. Winner

CLOSED STANCE MAY AGGRAVATE SLICING

First, a closed stance may cause a blocking out by the left side on the downswing. This forces the clubhead to slice across the ball. Second, a closed stance may cause the golfer to swing the clubhead across the ball to the left (illustration #1) in an unconscious effort to offset the closed alignment of the feet to the right of target.

A popular remedy for slicing is to close the stance. By positioning the feet so that the left foot is closer to the target line than the right (illustration #2), the golfer corrects the path of the clubhead.

The closed stance, however, may—under certain conditions—merely aggravate the slice.

At best, the closing of the stance to offset slicing is a compensation. I strongly suggest that anyone who slices—or hooks—consistently, begin the corrective process from a square stance (illustration #2) in which the feet are equidistant from the target line.

sent the hapless T & C nine under a 4-0 blanket to which they never recovered. The Submariners hustled three more tallies in the second, a couple in the third and fourth and capped it off with four in the fifth.

Jim Ostergard went the distance to pick up the win over Doug Baldensperger. "Skip" Armstrong led the hitting attack with a 4-4 evening in which included three doubles. Tony Ross and Terry Jackson showed forth with a pair of doubles, while Chuck McDermott bombed his 12th homer of the year along with a triple for a perfect night at the dish.

All three of the Night Clubbers runs came in the fifth frame on Tom Wescott's homer. This was the only extra base knock out of 11 hits registered against Ostergard.

On Sunday evening the same clubs will meet again to determine who goes into the finale. If there isn't two winners going into the finale then the last game or games will decide the outcome on Monday.

Stargell Homer Hero

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willie Stargell slammed his 22nd homer to break a tie as the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Houston Astros 3-2 Tuesday night.

Stargell's bases-empty blast came in the sixth inning with two out and was the third of Pittsburgh's four hits.

The Pirates had moved ahead 2-0 in the second inning. Stargell walked, Bill Mazeroski singled and Jerry May, after a fly out, walked to fill the bases. Pitcher Dock Ellis then hit a grounder that second baseman Jose Herrera bobbled, scoring Stargell, and Fred Patek hit a sacrifice fly to score Mazeroski.

Houston tied the score in the fifth. Bob Aspromonte singled, then second on a wild pitch and Lee Thomas singled. John Bateman doubled to score Aspromonte, and Thomas crossed on Herrera's infield single.

Houston mounted a threat in the eighth when Doug Rader singled with two out and Aspromonte got aboard when Freddie Patek bobbled his grounder.

Luke Walker came on the mound to replace starter Dock Ellis and struck out pinch batter Julio Goyat to snuff out the rally.

Walker also struck out the side in the ninth.

The victory gave Pittsburgh an 9-0 record at home against the Astros in their season series.

The attendance was 3,003, the smallest crowd of the season for Pittsburgh.

Jenkins Wins 17th

CHICAGO (AP) — Randy Hundley drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Ernie Banks whacked his 27th homer in leading the Chicago Cubs to an 8-3 victory over San Francisco Tuesday.

Hundley's two-run single highlighted the Cubs' three-run first inning. The young catcher contributed another run-producing single in Chicago's two-run sixth.

Banks connected off starter Gaylord Perry with one man on in the seventh.

Ferguson Jenkins recorded his 17th victory for the Cubs although tagged for a two-run homer by Willie McCovey in the opening inning and a solo shot by rookie Bobby Bonds in the eighth.

Bonds' blast was followed by a pair of singles and Jenkins was relieved by Rich Nye, who finished up.

McCovey's homer increased his National League-leading to-als to 32 homers and 85 runs batted in.

Willie Mays of the Giants was forced to leave the game in the sixth after being hit on the left elbow by Jenkins' pitch. The injury was diagnosed as a bruise and was not considered serious.

On Sunday evening the same clubs will meet again to determine who goes into the finale. If there isn't two winners going into the finale then the last game or games will decide the outcome on Monday.

Cards Win in 11th

CINCINNATI (AP) — Curt Flood's run-scoring singles and a sacrifice fly by Roger Maris in the 11th inning gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5-3 victory over the skidding Cincinnati Reds Tuesday night.

The loss was the sixth in a row for the Reds.

Reliever Dan McGinn, making his first major league appearance, walked pinch hitter Ed Spiezio and Lou Brock to open the 11th and was yanked for Billy McCool, who wild pitched the runners to second and third.

Joe Ritchie replaced McCool and gave up Flood's tie-breaking single before Maris delivered an insurance run.

Johnny Bench rapped a two-run homer off reliever Ron Williams with two out in the ninth, lifting the Reds into a 3-3 tie.

The Cardinals scored three runs in the fifth after shortstop Leo Cardenas booted Red Maxvill's grounder and Reds' starter George Culver walked Brock.

Flood's single scored Maxvill, breaking a scoreless tie, and Maris doubled home another run before Orlando Cepeda's run-scoring single capped the rally.

Pete Rose hit a bases-empty homer in the Reds' sixth.

Dodgers Power Attack

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Len Gabrielson's two-run double capped a Los Angeles attack that produced eight runs on three homers and five doubles in the last two innings as the Dodgers beat Philadelphia 10-9 Tuesday night.

The Dodgers went ahead 10-8 in the ninth. Willie Crawford and Lefebvre doubled, and Jim LeFebvre walked with one out, Gabrielson then doubled in Davis and Lefebvre.

Braves and Mets Split

NEW YORK (AP) — Tommy Aaron singled home two runs and Marty Martinez one in the 12th inning, sparking Atlanta to a 7-6 victory over New York and giving the Braves a split of a two-night doubleheader Tuesday.

The Mets won the opener 4-3. Tommy Aaron's tie-breaking single came off Ron Taylor, who relieved Al Jackson after Felix Millan singled, Hank Aaron doubled and Joe Torre was purposely walked to load the bases.

Marty Martinez singled in the final run after a walk and an out.

The Mets made a bid to pull it out in the bottom of the 11th when they scored twice on singles by Ken Boswell and Larry Stahl, an error and two groundouts.

The following were high scores in the Star-Later League: Nina Chapman 163-456; Nancy Dyke 165-425; Louise Ruhiman 177-422; Ellen Hitchcock 145-411; and Doris Anderson 143-407.

BLUEBERRY GOLF CHAMP

Ronald Felton Jr. of Sheffield, left, golf champion of Blueberry Hill Golf Club, accepts the congratulations of Robert Yerg, the runnerup. Felton won in a two-day playoff. At the end of the first 18 holes the first day, Yerg was one stroke in the lead. Felton won by two strokes over 36 holes. The lead changed hands several times in the course of the match play.

Oakland Raiders and Houston Picked to Repeat in American

NEW YORK (AP) — A guy named Lamonica changed the fortunes of the Oakland Raiders last year. Something named Achilles could do the same this year.

Achilles isn't some defensive genius who's about to throttle the Raiders' potent offense, but the tendon named after him has kicked a couple of holes in the Oakland defense.

Men's City League Opens

The Men's City Bowling League will start rolling at 9 p.m. next Monday at Penn Alleys.

The league has six teams with complete rosters but league officers are anxious to go with an eight-team league. The officers have extended an invitation to any teams to join.

Oliva Leads American League; He's Batting a Fat .289

NEW YORK (AP) — The left shoulder dislocation that will sideline Minnesota's Tony Oliva for the rest of the American League season may work to the advantage of the star outfielder's batting title aspirations.

Can his rivals still catch Oliva? He's leading with a .289 mark. Behind him are eight others with .280 or higher seeking to win the championship.

The all-time leader is Elmer Flick of Cleveland in 1906. Oliva, winner of the AL batting title in 1964 and 1965, dropped seven points with a 6-for-31 performance last week before suffering his injury in Saturday's game against the Chicago White Sox.

Rod Carew, Oliva's teammate, experienced far greater difficulty at the plate. The leader a week ago with a .299 mark, Carew dropped 19 points to .280. He managed only three hits in 35 times at bat.

Boston's Carl Yastrzemski, defending titleholder, moved up two positions to second although his average remained at .285. He had eight hits in 28 tries in last week's action.

Four players are tied for third at .283. They are Vic Davillio of California, Danny Cater of Oakland, Frank Howard of Washington and Ted Uhlander of Minnesota. Boston's Mike Andrews is next with .282 followed by Carew and Oakland's Bert Campaneris at .280. The figures include Sunday's games.

There were no changes in the National League top batting listings although each of the first five players lost ground. Pete

Rose of Cincinnati held first place although his mark dipped one point to .344.

Matty Alou of Pittsburgh fell three points to .335, but he held onto the runner-up spot.

Alex Johnson of Cincinnati is third at .323. Then come Felipe Alou, Atlanta, .312, and Willie McCovey of San Francisco, .300.

McCovey, though, continues to lead the NL in homers with 31 and runs batted in, 83. The Senators' Howard Remond, No. 1 in AL homers with 39, three more than last week. Boston's Ken Harrelson is the RBI leader with 102.

American League

Cullen's Pinch-Hit Wins

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pinch hitter Tim Cullen drilled a two-run single in the sixth inning, carrying the Washington Senators to a 2-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night.

The victory boosted the American League tailenders within one game of the ninth place White Sox.

Joe Coleman stopped the White Sox on four hits to post his 11th victory in 25 decisions. He allowed just one hit over the last five innings.

Chicago reliever Wilbur Wood inherited a bases-loaded jam from starter Cisco Carlos with none out in the sixth. He retired the next two batters before Cullen, batting for shortstop Ed Brinkman, plunked a single to center, scoring Brant Alyea and Mike Epstein to erase a 1-0 deficit.

The White Sox scored in the third on a walk and Walt Williams' double.

Ellsworth Tough

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Reggie Smith and Joe Foy each drove in two runs and Dick Ellsworth pitched his way out of two bases-loaded jams, leading Boston to a 4-1 victory over Minnesota Tuesday night in a game shortened to five innings by rain.

Smith hit his 11th home run after Foy singled in the fourth inning, staking the Red Sox to a 3-0 lead.

Then Foy singled off the left fielder with the bases loaded in the fifth for another run to finish Jim Merritt, 10-15. Carl Yastrzemski held up at second on Foy's drive and was thrown out at home.

Boston had scored a run in the first on Foy's RBI single.

The Twins loaded the bases in the first with one out on singles by Rich Reese and Rich Rollins, plus a walk to Bob Allison. However, Ellsworth, 13-6, struck out John Roseboro and rookie Graig Nettles.

Minnesota scored in the fourth on Nettles' double, a single by Rick Renick and Jerry Adair's error at shortstop. An infield single by Cesar Tovar loaded the bases after the run scored, but Ellsworth got out of it when Reese grounded back to the mound.

Yanks Top Fading Birds

BALTIMORE (AP) — Roy White smacked a bases-loaded triple and Bill Robinson drove in two runs with a pair of singles, pacing the New York Yankees to a 6-1 victory over the fading Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night.

It was the sixth loss in eight games for the runner-up Orioles, who trailed Detroit's American League leaders by only four games a week ago.

The Yankees, held to an infield single through five innings by Tom Phoebus, pushed over two runs in the sixth for a 2-1 lead and pulled away as White's triple keyed a four-run ninth.

Left-hander Fritz Peterson checked the Orioles on five hits, including a fifth inning homer by Paul Blair, in the eight innings he worked and evened his record at 9-9.

Peterson left the game in the top of the ninth after being hit on the right hand by a Moe Drabowsky pitch. Dooley Wamack finished up.

Phoebus, who went into the game with a 6-0 lifetime record against New York, fell apart in the sixth when singles by Horacio Clarke, Jake Gibbs and Joe Pepitone tied the game 1-1 and Robinson's first run-producing single sent the Yanks ahead.

Bobby Cox walked in the ninth. Peterson was clipped by a pitch and Jake Gibbs singled, filling the bases, before White unloaded his triple and Robinson singled for the final run.

Pennsylvania Top Hunting State

The U.S. Interior Department's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has released sales figures for the fiscal year 1967 and they back up Pennsylvania's claim as the country's number hunting state. The figures embrace the 1966-67 license year because the 1967-68 license year has just ended August 31 and the final compilation has not been completed.

The Interior Department's report breaks down hunting license sales into five categories. Pennsylvania led the way in three of these categories and was barely edged out for the first spot in the other two, primarily, because separate licenses, permits, and tags are not required in Pennsylvania as contrasted to many other states.

The Keystone State had more paid hunting license holders than any other state. A paid license holder is one individual regardless of the number of licenses he purchases. Pennsylvania also topped the list in total license sales and in income from the sale of hunting licenses.

Daley Demands Prime TV Time to Answer Critics

CHICAGO — Mayor Richard J. Daley, angered at criticism of him and the Chicago police during the Democratic convention last week, demanded prime time Tuesday from each television network to respond.

Chicago's business community, meanwhile, conceded a setback as a result of convention-week violence but expressed the conviction it would be temporary.

Some businessmen here condemned the mayor for his handling of the situation, but most defended him.

The mayor's office produced thousands of letters from Chicagoans and others, and a spokesman said 90 per cent backed the mayor.

The Chicago Convention Bureau, noting that three organizations have said they were canceling conventions scheduled for Chicago, raised the threat of legal action if commitments were broken.

Daley told a news conference he had asked the Columbia Broadcasting System, American Broadcasting Co. and National Broadcasting Co. for an hour or prime time Sept. 11 or 12 "for the purpose of balancing the one-sided portrayal" of events televised last week.

He released copies of a letter to the networks complaining that police clubbing of demonstrators had been emphasized to the exclusion of provocative tactics by demonstrators "and the grave implications of these events to the cities of America."

The mayor also released a police report on a post-convention, pre-dawn raid Friday on a suite in the Conrad Hilton Hotel used by campaign workers for Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Civil Jet Planes Must Have New Altitude Device

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration served advance notice Tuesday that all civil jet aircraft must be equipped with an approved altitude alerting device after Feb. 28, 1971.

The equipment must be capable of alerting a pilot, ascending or descending to a preselected altitude, fast enough to permit him to establish level flight at that altitude, the FAA said.

The device, altering the pilot with both aural and visual signals, would help prevent him from descending below or climbing above an assigned altitude by warning him whenever he strayed from the correct level.

The FAA said the increasing use of jet aircraft, with their capability of rapid climb or descent, has made more critical the hazard of inadvertent aircraft deviation from assigned or predetermined flight lanes.

It said the long advance notice was designed to give the industry sufficient time to complete development of systems that include additional safety features.

Briefs

ROME (AP) — Italian girls say interest in sports is their least liked trait in a husband, a survey of young married couples by the Socialist newspaper Avanti reported. The girls like intelligence first while the men say they like their women beautiful, then honest and elegant.

UMTATA, South Africa (AP) — Police are seeking a burglar who translated "Kilroy was here" into the Xhosa tribal vernacular. The burglar stole liquor and cigarettes and scrawled "Bebe Sifile" — Bebe was here — on a club's bulletin board.

DUBLIN (AP) — A diving team headed by Sydney Wignall reported recovering cannon balls and bones from a wrecked galleon in 110 feet of water off the southwest Irish coast. They said they think the ship was the Santa Maria de la Rosa of Spain which sank in 1588 with 500 men aboard.

TEIGNMOUTH, England (AP) — Rex, a German shepherd, has lost his job as watchdog at the Prince of Wales pub in this English seaside town. The landlord said he started drinking so much he bumped into furniture, developed hangovers and pestered customers into giving him booze.

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanzania (AP) — Tanzania has banned beauty contests on the grounds that they divert women from the tasks of building the nation and self-reliance. The government already has spoken out against miniskirts, makeup and wigs, and ordered the warrior Masai tribesmen to cover their bare buttocks.

SOUTH CADBURY, England (AP) — Archaeologists digging to find the remains of King Arthur's court at Camelot have called in a computer to help them. For the first time in England a computer is speedily doing the arithmetical work which used to take hours. So far the diggers have found a timbered house and pottery from the 6th century, when King Arthur is believed to have lived.

The report said 20 persons in the 15th floor rooms were dispersed after they were observed dropping objects, from beer cans to ice cubes, out of the window on policemen below.

The report said the police spoke softly and dealt gently with the McCarthy aides, though two who resisted were struck with nightsticks and one was repulsed with mace.

McCarthy sources have reported the police action was unprovoked. Two of the injured required stitches to close head wounds, they said. The senator has arranged for an independent investigation.

United States Attorney Thomas A. Foran said a grand jury may hear evidence on the raid and other police actions that have been challenged as overaggressive.

He called upon networks and photographers to make available to his office any unedited videotapes and film of police action they had.

He said a grand jury investigation so far had failed to substantiate alleged plots to assassinate Democratic presidential candidates, Mayor Daley and others.

Such "plots" had been cited by the mayor and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey as requiring the tightest security precautions ever taken for a political convention.

Foran said police officials were seeking information concerning policemen who attacked innocent bystanders and newsmen while breaking up demonstrations. The Federal Bureau of Investigation also is gathering facts.

Tuesday Judge Donald J. O'Brien of the Cook County Circuit Court set next Monday for a hearing on a suit by several Chicagoans charging Daley and police Superintendent James B. Conlisk Jr. with ordering or condoning unprovoked attacks on representatives of the news media. About 30 newsmen were injured by the police last week.

Revolving House Provides Constant Change of Scenery

WILTON, Conn. — The front door of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Foster's house here is always in the same place. The rest of the house isn't — always. The living room may face the pond in the morning, the pine woods in the afternoon and the rolling hills in the evening, as one room moves, so move the others. The Foster family can change the view with the same ease that other people can change a television channel. They live in a revolving house. The front door, reached by crossing a cobblestone terrace, is at the base of the core of the house. It is stationary for obvious reasons.

"If the front door were here one day and there the next, a

Capital of Yukon Territory Swings with Hope and Fun

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (AP) — This capital of Yukon Territory, the area known mainly for the Klondike gold rush of 70 years ago, swings with fun, hope and adventure. It seems as if everyone knows everyone else in the population of 5,000.

"It's a place where you can develop as an individual," says Duff Taylor, who works for a car dealer. "If you want to get involved in community life, there's plenty to do. If you want to be a loner, fine."

Whitehorse is no longer a bush town, although its downtown streets need a good scrubbing and Indians live in shacks. It's a growing, progressive city — the only major watering hole on the all-weather Alaska Highway between Dawson Creek, B.C., and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Modern, well-stocked shops have taken over from log trading posts, and airlines link the city with Alaska, British Columbia and Alberta.

"If a person lives here for a year and likes it, he'll probably stay," says Flo Whyard, who has been editing the twice-weekly Whitehorse Star for 11 years.

Peter Jensen and his wife Shirley have a big-game outfitting business. They live in a new alpine-type house in Riverdale subdivision where contractors have left most of the pine trees standing.

Tallest building in the city is the government annex, four stories. The main streets are paved and the tourists who swarm here in summer often comment on the pleasure of driving on asphalt after days on the dusty, gravel-surfaced Alaska Highway.

Two men who work for the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. agree that "the most beautiful girls in the world live here — the climate gives them that peach-and-cream look." The winter is long and summer short. Parts of the Yukon have recorded temperatures of 80 below zero. Living costs are high. Fresh meat, fruit and vegetables come

Miss America Pageant Is Like Cinderella's World

Miss New Mexico, Karen Jan Maciolek, right, was the first Miss America Pageant contestant to arrive at Atlantic City, N.J. She is pictured waving to young admirers as she arrived

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The Miss America Pageant — regarded by many as camp or corn and accepted by most as an institution — brings to life the world of Cinderella for 50 young and beautiful women this week. When the spectacle climaxes Saturday night with the crowning of Miss America 1969, it will have been witnessed by an estimated 20,000 persons in Convention Hall and 110 million on television — one of the largest audiences in video history.

"It's corny," concedes Albert Marks, the pageant's executive producer. "It's Cinderella all the way, but it's something that everyone identifies with." Miss America, it seems, is what little girls dream of, what mothers think their daughters are, and what men hope their wives will be.

This year's theme is "Once Upon a Someday," a tale about a little girl who looks into a mirror and dreams of becoming at her hotel. Marjean Kay Langley, 19, left, of Milton-Freewater, Ore., is another young hopeful among the 50 beautiful girls who will vie for the title of Miss America Saturday night.

Miss America — and, of course, she does. The tradition-bound pageant has come a long way since it started in 1921 as a bit of cheesecake cooked up by some local businessmen to keep the tourists in town for another week of salt, sun and salt water taffy after Labor Day.

But this year's pageant is already breaking with tradition. Ferrellan emcee Bert Parks will be back, only he will be crooning a different tune. Instead of the familiar "There She Is, Miss America," it will be "Look At Her, Miss America."

In another area, pageant officials responded to criticism from civil rights groups that accused it of being "lily white," and said last month they would take steps to encourage more Negro girls to enter at the local level.

This included promises of contributing an annual $1,000 scholarship to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, authorization of Negro colleges to hold local contests and the inclusion of Negroes in the judging panel for the national finals.

The pageant said it asked three Negro entertainers — Diahann Carroll, Lena Horne and Leslie Uggams — to serve this year, but prior commitments prevented their acceptance.

Of the 70,000 girls who entered the 3,500 local pageants this year, only 40 to 50 were Negroes, the pageant said. No Negro has ever made it to Atlantic City as a state queen, and that includes this year's group.

In protest, a chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People announced it would conduct a black Miss America pageant the same weekend in Atlantic City as the Miss America contest.

"The Miss Black America pageant is to provide black young ladies with an open and fair contest at which they will be judged by black judges on the basis of their beauty, talent and charm," said Philip Savage, trustee director of the NAACP. For the first time in the contests history, all the girls are college students or graduates. Pageant officials take great pride in pointing to the girls' intellectual attributes.

At stake, in addition to fame, glamour and a fabulous wardrobe, is a $10,000 scholarship. A total of $60,000 in scholarships will be handed out to the girls, each of whom has won scholarships in the local and state contests.

The title also means nearly $85,000 in personal appearance contracts. That's about what this year's Miss America, Debra Barnes of Moran, Kan., picked up in 200,000 miles of traveling during her reign.

But the title has its drawbacks. During her reign Miss America can never let her hair down and slip into blue jeans, or go to sorority parties, or date. She can't even be in the company of a man — excluding her father — without the presence of her constant traveling companion and chaperone.

The "no-man" edict also applies this week for the 50 girls — from the time they arrive this weekend, through registration Monday, Tuesday afternoon's parade, and the four nights of competition that begin Wednesday.

The nine judges — headed by television personality Ed McMahon — will be looking for talent, charm, poise, personality and intelligence, in addition to a pretty face and shapely figure.

The girls compete in three divisions, talent, evening gown and swimsuit.

Then, shortly before midnight Saturday over nationwide television (NBC beginning at 10 p.m.) the five finalists will be announced.

A few moments later one girl's dream of being Miss America will come true.

Nigeria Lifts Blockade To Permit Food Airlift

LAGOS (AP) — Nigeria agreed Tuesday to lift its blockade of secessionist Biafra temporarily and permit the International Red Cross to airlift food and medicine to thousands of starving civil war refugees starting Thursday.

Until now, the federal government had threatened to shoot down unauthorized flights into the breakaway republic. The Red Cross canceled flights for a time last month after the Nigerians fired on its planes.

A federal Ministry of Information statement said Red Cross planes based on the Spanish off-shore island of Fernando Po could fly relief supplies to airstrip Annabell in the secessionist Ull-Ihala area for 10 days.

The Red Cross agreed, in turn, to "immediately use its influence" in getting the Biafrans to consent to the opening of a land and water relief corridor, the ministry said. The Biafrans have balked at the opening of an overland corridor, contending it could be used by advancing federal troops.

Agreement on the flights was reached during a meeting here between Nigeria's chief of state Yakubu Gowon, August R. Lindt, International Red Cross coordinator for West Africa, and Swiss Ambassador Dr. Fitz Neel.

The Red Cross and other private groups have been flying in food and medicine to Biafra at night, but these flights have been able to provide barely a fraction of the supplies needed for the mass of civil war refugees threatened by disease and starvation. Because of the urgency of Biafra's food crisis, the Red Cross announced in Geneva Monday it would defy the Nigerian blockade by initiating a massive relief airlift by day.

Five planes, supplied by Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Finland and Switzerland, will make the first federally approved flights into Biafra. A sixth plane is expected to be provided later by the Dutch Red Cross.

Nigerian authorities also have been invited to inspect the planes during loading operations on Fernando Po, where some 3,500 tons of food have been stockpiled. The Nigerians had previously opposed direct flights into Biafra on the ground that they could be used to smuggle arms to the rebels.

Surplus food will be distributed to all Tidoute area recipients today (Wednesday) from the fire hall. Hours are noon until 3 p.m.

Friday's distribution is scheduled for the Sugar Grove area from the fire hall there. Hours are noon until 3 p.m.

Sp/4 Brutus T. Bear Gulps Dog Food, Soda Pop

DA NANG, Vietnam (AP) — Spec. 4 Brutus T. Bear, a mild-mannered female soldier, lumbered ashore from the cargo ship Albion Victory Tuesday, sniffed the humid air of South Vietnam, gulped down five cans of dog food and a can of soda pop.

Brutus is a three-year-old black bear — the T stands for The — and the mascot of the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division, 1st Battalion, 11th Regiment.

"We got her as a cub and the sergeant major wasn't sure if it was a male or a female so he named her Brutus anyway," said the bear's chief handler, Spec. 4 Ronald E. Ubersox, 19, Shullsburg, Wis.

Ubersox and his helper, Spec. 4 Billy R. Williams, 21, Key West, Fla., made the 20-day voyage from Oakland, Calif., to Da Nang with Brutus.

Police seized 28 shotgun shells, 22 rounds of .38 caliber cartridges and 224 rounds of .22 caliber cartridges along with guns and knives were seized.

City Solicitor O. Francis Blond said seven raids were carried out in various parts of the city between 2 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. against the group called the Black Liberation Army.

One of the places hit by the raiders was a branch of the Wilmington Youth Emergency Action Council, which is financed in part by the government.

Mayor Babiarz said that in view of Tuesday's raids, the entire WYEC program will have to be reviewed.

Tuesday's police action came on the heels of a Monday raid on the home of Allen Steed, 18, in which police said they confiscated 2,000 shotgun shells, 1,350 rounds of .22 caliber ammunition, an 18-inch machete and a shotgun.

The Monday raid followed the arrest of Steed and five others Saturday afternoon. Police said they were staging "maneuvers" on Cherry Island, a marsh on the eastern outskirts of Wilmington.

Police said the six youths were wearing black berets inscribed Black Liberation Army. All were charged with discharging firearms within the city limits. Two also were charged with illegal possession of firearms and two with possession of marijuana. They were held in lieu of bail totaling $48,000.

The magazine said order entry and shipments were down at least 50 per cent from the spring peak, causing raw steel production and finishing mill operations to be cut sharply.

"Output is reported off 31 per cent since mid-June when pressure on the mills started to ease following the extended period of intensive strike hedging," Steel added.

It would be late in the first quarter of 1969 before normal buying and shipping patterns in the industry were restored, the magazine added.

It pointed out that monthly consumption is expected to be only 8 million to 8.5 million tons; imports will continue to be heavy (average at least 1.4 million tons a month) and consumer inventories are high, around 13 million tons above normal.

"Liquidation of inventories by users will extend into next March, assuming users deplete their stocks at a rate of 1.5 million tons a month," Steel estimated.

Raw steel production in the week ended Aug. 31 was 1,930,000 net tons, down 1.7 per cent from the preceding week to the lowest level since the closing week of 1963, the magazine said.

Steel's price composite on the No. 1 steelmaking grade of scrap remained unchanged at $23.33 a gross ton for the third straight week.

WASHINGTON (AP) — New teacher unrest in school districts across the nation looms this month as public schools open their doors for the new academic year.

Officials of the million-member National Education Association in Washington predict some 300 to 400 teacher work stoppages will occur during the coming school year, with early trouble signs already up in St. Louis, Philadelphia, and Toledo, Ohio.

The NEA prediction echoes a similar forecast made last January by the organization, which has become increasingly militant in backing teacher wage and working condition demands over the past year and a half.

NEA affiliates across the country are in turmoil due to unsettled contract negotiations, officials of the association report. Included are 35 school districts in Michigan, most of them in Detroit suburbs, four districts in Massachusetts and others in Connecticut, Florida and New York. Looking further ahead, NEA officials say conditions in New Hampshire, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Idaho and New Mexico could trigger statewide walkouts next spring similar to the one which crippled Florida's public schools earlier this year.

The AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, NEA's archrival in recruiting teachers, reports Madison and Belleville, Ill., and Pittsburgh, Pa., among the cities with pressing teacher working conditions that it said call for early improvement.

Those who received food during August, have or will receive a letter listing all requirements for quarterly recertification under state and federal regulations.

All information must be brought by the recipient in order to receive food distribution this month. The county must comply with the recertification requirements.

The bear was chained beside her cage on the fantail for the trip, but she shook the chain off during one storm and wandered into the ship's library. There was pandemonium, but "she just wanted to get out of the rain so she came in and sat down," said Ubersox.

The black bear brushed sea men and soldiers aside when the gangplank was lowered, and she was the first ashore, towing Ubersox and Williams behind her.

Brutus joined the Army about three years ago when she was just a carefree cub. She was picked up scampering down a street in Canon City, Colo., and turned over to the zoo in Pueblo. They didn't need the extra bear, and Brutus was given to the 5th Division at Ft. Carson, Colo.

Being "good natured for a bear," according to Ubersox, Brutus rose rapidly in rank until she was busted from Specialist 5 to Specialist 4 because she nipped a major general's finger.

"There was a sign on the cage saying don't stick your fingers inside," Ubersox said. Since the general ignored the sign, there was some discussion whether Brutus should be promoted or demoted, but the general's views prevailed.

Brutus' rations are five cans of dog food a day washed down with soda.

"She gets beer, too, whenever we have a party," Williams said.

Employment In Steel Mills Drops Sharply

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Employment at steel mills is dropping sharply and workers are averaging fewer hours weekly as production drops, Steel Magazine said Monday.

"Although the outlook for September steel business is dismal, some improvement in buying is expected late in the month because of the bullish predictions on auto sales," the metalworking weekly added.

The magazine said order entry and shipments were down at least 50 per cent from the spring peak, causing raw steel production and finishing mill operations to be cut sharply.

"Output is reported off 31 per cent since mid-June when pressure on the mills started to ease following the extended period of intensive strike hedging," Steel added.

300 Bodies Of Quake Victims Are Recovered

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Rescuers recovered Tuesday the bodies of more than 300 earthquake victims killed when the makeshift hospital in which they were being treated collapsed under the impact of an aftershock.

The bodies, most of them bandaged from earlier injuries, were found huddled together in the wreckage of a collapsed school building that had been converted into an emergency hospital in the eastern Iranian town of Ferdous after Saturday's big earthquake. The building was leveled by an aftershock Sunday.

Saturday's initial quake claimed 1,500 of Ferdous' townspeople, but officials said the one Sunday was more intense there. The death toll throughout eastern Iran was officially estimated at 11,000 to 11,600, but unofficial estimates put it at 14,000.

Prime Minister Amir Abbas Hoveida reported that rescuers were abandoning efforts to recover more bodies because of the danger of epidemics. He ordered rescue workers to level ruins with bulldozers, leaving the unrecovered dead buried beneath the debris.

Hoveida said some 100,000 houses would be rebuilt in the earthquake area, using steel beams and heavy bricks instead of mud and wood.

Contributions to help the quake victims continued to pour in. Foreign Minister Ardeshir Zahedi launched a fund drive by donating three months' salary.

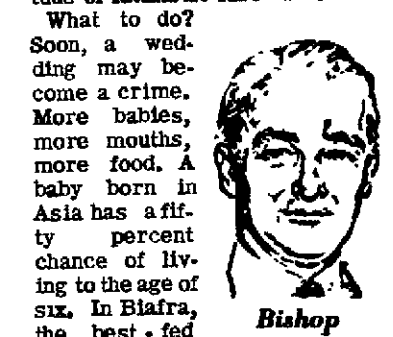

GRIN AND BEAR IT BY LIGHTY

JIM BISHOP

Hangup is Hunger

The hangup is hunger. It's the key. Today, 170,000 persons will die and 350,000 will be born. A net gain of 180,000 mouths. This happens every time the world turns toward another dawn. A full belly cannot understand hunger. Nor can chronic hunger understand itself, because it induces an attitude of fatalistic lassitude.

Bishop

What to do? Soon, a wedding may become a crime. More babies, more mouths, more food. A baby born in Asia has fifty percent chance of living to the age of six. In Biafra, the best-fed creatures are the vultures. They sit on low branches and wait for humans to fall from weakness.

The world grows more food per acre than ever before. It lives off the top eight inches of soil. If a cataclysmic wind could blow that small bit of topsoil out to sea, everybody would die. Nothing would grow. Food is a seed reposing in nutritious soil photosynthesized by sunlight and rain into a plant. A tree is a stick of sunlight and sugar. A blade of grass, devoured by a cow, is milk. A fish, eating algae, is molecular sunlight transmuted into energy.

Half of the three billion people need more calories. Americans have too many. They wear out gold-plated stomachs. The countries around the rim of the North Atlantic Ocean grow more food than they can eat. Canada is a thousand miles of undulating wheat. The well-fed want to sell, but the poor cannot buy. The little boy stares wistfully through the candy store window.

Rice is nice. One half the world lives on it, but it is only ten percent protein, and proteins are the building blocks of the human body. Ironically, a food explosion cannot cancel a population explosion. It should, but the cost of shipping one loaf of bread from Chicago to Madagascar would run to $5.

Everyone philosophizes about hunger, but no one gives a damn. Not truly. My wife and I sometimes sit in a place called Wolfie's devouring Jewish pickles, cold slaw, steak, baked potatoes in a snow-bank of sour cream and baked apple cake with big sugary crumbs on top. She says: "A plane got into Biafra with canned food and when the soldiers saw what it was, they burst into tears." Inod. "What a picture that would make," I say.

Every statesman has a plan. The well-fed pity the dying. Fat clergymen murmur a prayer. CARE sends a package. Point Four send seeds. A Hindu with ribs like a harp dozes under a mimosa tree watching water buffalo wallow in muddy water. His religion will not permit him to eat them. The fat water buffalo is an atheist, but he'll be saved.

The world can grow enough food for three times its present population, but it won't. The United Nations could reach a food plan for every nation on earth without straining its resources.

Each country could be told how many people it is going to have to feed each succeeding decade and what it must do to give its people a balanced diet. With few exceptions, most people could be taught to feed themselves.

There are about twenty amino acids, none listed on a restaurant menu. Unless you ingest eight of them regularly, you cannot live. The American Indian never heard of them, but he hunted across the plains and bagged just enough buffalo and wild game, supplemented by wild roots, to make himself strong and unafraid. The white man arrived. In thirty years he made the bison a museum piece.

A farmer must raise seven pounds of feed to increase the weight of a steer one pound.

Sugar is energy but a Cuban living on a cheap cereal diet hasn't the strength to cut the cane. Guatemala raises good coffee, but it must sell it for cash to buy corn and meat and powdered milk. Man, the only animal born with intelligence, is desperate.

A city does not produce food. It produces people. Every month, there are 5,400,000 more bellies to be filled in the world. The world of medicine helps everyone to live longer. We have a pill that can stop you before you start. The wrong people use it; the wrong people refuse it.

Does anyone really care? Forty years ago Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur wrote a play called "The Front Page." In it, an editor phones the city desk. His makeup man tells him that a news bulletin just in relates that a million Chinese have died along the Yangtze. "Put it in the back of the paper," the editor says, "and give it a paragraph."

"How about the story of the rooster who is supposed to have laid an egg?" the makeup man asks. "Keep it on page one," the boss says. "That's human interest"....

The Harris Survey

By LOUIS HARRIS

In the aftermath of widespread shock and hostility engendered by the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, a majority of the American public has become pessimistic over the prospects of a workable agreement with Russia to secure world peace. The division between "hard" and "soft" liners toward the Soviet Union has now become a significant factor in this year's presidential preferences.

In an in-depth poll of a national cross section of 1,715 households conducted on Aug. 24, the Harris Survey found these reactions to the Czech crisis:

--By 63 to 20 per cent, a majority of Americans felt that "with the Czech invasion by Russia, the cold war is on all over again."

--By 59 to 27 per cent, the public concluded that the "Czech invasion proves all Communist countries are alike and cannot be trusted."

--And by 65 to 19 per cent, people agreed that the United States "should strengthen its defenses and alliances, such as NATO, to be prepared to resist aggression anywhere in the world."

Along with this immediate sense of outrage was a sober second realization by the American people that they live in a world with no simple solutions, particularly in an era when nuclear annihilation can be instantaneous.

--By 88 to 5 per cent, the American people believe "that in the Atomic Age we still have to try to work out a peace with Russia."

--The public felt that the United States should "demand that the Russians get out of Czechoslovakia" by only a slim 40 to 38 per cent. Implicit in this response is the feeling that although most condemn the Soviet bloc invasion, there is considerable reservation about risking a war between the world's two superpowers.

--By 77 to 10 per cent, the public agreed that "the United States should be strengthened to stop all aggression, such as what happened in Czechoslovakia."

Perhaps the major shift in the U.S. public opinion as a result of the Czech invasion emerged in the assessment of the people over the practical prospects of negotiating a long-term agreement with the Russians to control world wars.

In early July and again in late August, separate cross sections of the public were asked:

"Do you think it is possible now for the United States and Russia to come to a long-term agreement to control wars in the world which will work?"

As a direct result of the invasion, sentiment switched from 5-to-3 optimistic to 5-to-3 pessimistic over the possibilities of a settlement with the Russians.

This dimension of whether or not peace with Russia is possible has deep political overtones. When the 50 per cent hard liners who reject the prospect of a settlement are compared with the other half who do not rule out the possibility, a clear political division occurs.

The hard-line vote tends to break more for Richard Nixon and George Wallace, while Hubert Humphrey does better with those who still hold out hope for a Soviet-U.S. detente. Clearly, what happens between now and election day in world events can determine much of the outcome of the contest.

JAMES RESTON

They're Off, But Where?

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK—Sometimes the greatest decisions of politics are taken in the quietest moments and pass almost unnoticed. We are in such a period now, when Nixon and Humphrey are privately planning the broad strategy of the campaign, deciding where to mobilize their greatest strength and how to attack and with what weapons.

Reston

It is a critical time, for the kind of campaign often determines the kind of administration to follow in the ensuing four years. The campaign can be plain and hard, but if it is cruel or vicious, if it ignites fears and passions which cannot be forgotten, or indulges in personal charges that cannot be forgiven, it will destroy that trust and unity which are the foundation of effective civil government.

In this brief pause before the candidates start hurling their thunderbolts, therefore, it may be useful to think about where we want to come out when the shouting and the voting end. Even at this early date, some points are fairly clear. Neither Humphrey nor Nixon is likely to come out of the election with a large enough popular majority to assure that he can govern by personal acclaim. Neither party, as things now stand, represents a clear enough body of principles to be sure of carrying its program through the Congress. And the Congress might very well be divided, with a Democratic majority in the Senate and a Republican majority in the House of Representatives.

Even if the campaign is kept within the wide bounds of sharp but fair debate, it is likely to perpetuate the present divisions, and confuse rather than clarify the issues. And when it is over, the nation will still face a catalogue of domestic and foreign problems as dangerous, radical and controversial as anything we have seen since the thirties.

If this is a reasonable prospect for next November, therefore, the new president, whoever he is, will need to put together something very much like a national or nonparty administration, including the very best men he can recruit from both major parties and the independents, in order to get enough popular support to govern effectively. That is to say, neither Nixon nor Humphrey alone will be able to carry the country along in the next four years by personal popularity, as Roosevelt did in his first term—even Eisenhower and Kennedy could not do that—but a superlative Nixon or Humphrey "team," adding to the president the backing of brilliant cabinet associates from both parties plus their personal constituencies, might just give the new administration enough power to govern.

This will be extremely hard to achieve, however, and may even be impossible if the campaign degenerates into a dog-fight, and leaves the defeated party wounded and embittered. Humphrey is already having trouble getting Sen. Eugene McCarthy to support him because McCarthy feels he was unfairly ditched by the Democrats in the party conventions. And the situation will be far worse if the losing party leaders feel they were gored, misrepresented, and cheated in the race.

This is a serious problem for both candidates. The temptation on Nixon, as the representative of the minority party, to exploit the present grievances of the nation and influence the voters who are anti-Communist and anti-Negro, must be very great. Indeed, he is being told by some of his advisers, who don't need to tell him, that he must somehow appeal to George Wallace's supporters or lose the election.

How Nixon would then regain the confidence of the Negroes or put together a ministry of the most talented men in the nation, if he won by appealing to the fears and prejudices of the electorate, is not at all clear. Similarly, it is difficult to imagine how Humphrey could preside over a distinguished "national" government if he went back to the old traditional personal attacks on the Republicans as the party of Herbert Hoover and the Great Depression.

We are already hearing echoes of this tired old Democratic libany from some of the big labor union leaders, who seem to rise in self-esteem as they lose the support of their own members. It is probably too much to expect that the vice president will be able to keep them on the high road even if he tried, but the stakes in this election are much bigger than either of the candidates or the parties. They concern the unity and trust of the nation, and if either Humphrey or Nixon plays too hard to win, the winner could easily paralyze his administration before he took office.

FAMILY PLANNING AID NEW DELHI (AP) India might get $15 million aid from the United States for family planning. Minister of State for Health and Family Planning Sripriti Chandra Sekhar told Parliament.

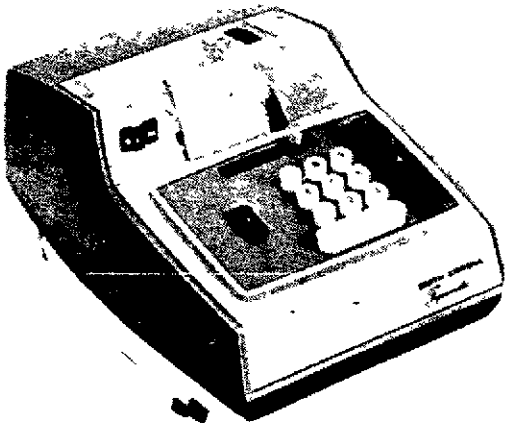

The minister visited the United States in January this year and met with President Johnson and others on his ministry's needs.

Family planning holds the key to India's progress. The population increase of about 15 million persons every year is thwarting all developmental programs. It makes India chronically dependent on other countries, and more especially the United States, for its essential food.

The minister said the United States had earmarked $35 million aid for the whole world for family planning and India's share would be $15 million.

This would include a fleet of mobile vans to take the message and the means to the 560,000 villages where 85 per cent of India's 510 million people live.

Youth Injured In Fall From Pickup Truck

Two motorists escaped injury at 10:30 a.m. Saturday when their cars collided on Route 127, three miles west of West Hickory.

Tionesta-based state police reported that a car driven by Randy McWilliams, 18, RD 2, Tidioute, made a left turn in front of a car operated by Grant George, 29, RD 1, Pleasantville. State police at Tionesta also reported that a youth fell from the back of a pickup truck in Forest County's Fools Creek area Saturday and suffered a possible concussion.

Police said Jack Spencer, 19, RD, Sheffield, was riding in the back of a truck driven by David Paddock, 76, of Clarion. The men were reportedly spotted along Route 666 about 10 p.m.

WARREN TIMES-MIRROR AND OBSERVER

WARREN, PA., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1968

Gov. Shafer, Republican Leaders To Discuss Session Timetable

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer expects to confer this week with Republican legislative leaders to determine a timetable for the remainder of the 1968 session.

There was no indication, however, that the GOP leadership had wavered in current plans to extend the recess through the Nov. 5 elections.

"We hope to have the leaders in this week to review the situation," said Hugh Flaherty, Shafer's secretary for public affairs and legislation.

"The governor will have no comment on how he feels about the legislative schedule until after the meeting," Flaherty continued.

Shafer previously had listed three areas of business that would require the attention of the 1968 session, which, under the constitution, must conclude no later than Nov. 30.

They were implementing legislation for the new judicial article of the constitution; a new public employees law; and state aid for Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia.

Senate President Pro Tempore Robert D. Fleming and House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson, both Allegheny County Republicans, said they saw no reason at this point for the General Assembly to reconvene before the election.

They noted that a blue-ribbon committee preparing recommendations on the judiciary does not expect to have its work completed before mid-October.

That would take the General Assembly into the heart of the 1968 election campaign and make it difficult to get lawmakers who are up for reelection to return to Harrisburg, they said.

Donaldson and Fleming also pointed out that there still was no draft legislation available to implement the report of the special panel Shafer convened to review and recommend changes in the existing public employees anti-strike law of 1947.

Flaherty said the administration hoped to have a draft prepared to present to the leaders when they meet with the governor.

"It would be premature for me to discuss the draft prior to the meeting," Flaherty replied when asked about the legislation. "Besides," he added, "it's still a draft and only that."

In this respect, Donaldson commented: "Until there is some kind of an agreement on it, I can't see any point in coming back."

That view was strongly challenged by Senate Minority Leader Ernest P. Kline, D-Beaver, who repeated his appeal that the Republicans reconvene the session in mid-September as was planned when the recess was initiated a month and one-half ago.

Noting that Pittsburgh and Scranton teachers who walked off the job earlier this year cannot collect their higher salaries under the present public employee law, Kline declared:

"A return (to work) of the Pittsburgh and Scranton teachers... would be a temporary solution at best. We need a permanent solution such as can be accomplished only through legislation."

Two Women Killed When Auto Hits Tree

PORT ALLEGANY — Two local women were killed Monday night a mile west of here when the car in which they were riding slammed into a tree.

Pronounced dead at the scene were Mrs. Lois Smith, 35, operator of the vehicle, and Mrs. Barbara A. Pinchcock, 28, the passenger.

Kane-based state police said the accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. during heavy rain when the car, westbound on Route 6 and apparently traveling at a high rate of speed, left the north side of the highway, went down a 10-foot embankment, struck and sheared off a utility pole and struck a tree broadside. The car hit the tree with such force that the vehicle was nearly wrapped around it, police said.

Workers spent two hours at the scene removing the bodies from the mangled wreckage.

McKean County Coroner Gale Hollenbeck pronounced both women dead at the scene and attributed death in both cases to multiple injuries.

Apparently there were no witnesses to the accident which happened on a straight stretch of road.

Rep. Schweiker Arrives In Warren This Morning

Congressman Dick Schweiker, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, will arrive in Warren between 8 and 8:30 a.m. today where he'll discuss the issues at a breakfast in the Blue Manor and hold a press conference.

His stop here is part of a three-day "Auto-Blitz" of five Western Pennsylvania counties.

Schweiker launched his main Senate campaign today by beginning an auto tour in "All-American City" Clearfield.

"I'm driving into as many cities as I can this week," Schweiker said, "to talk with local leaders about local problems."

Schweiker said, "I'm proud of the record of growth shown by Pennsylvania's medium-sized cities. I am taking my campaign to them to pledge my present concern for their problems, and my future support as a U.S. Senator for their progress."

Schweiker will be accompanied by Republican Superior Court Judge candidate Judge John B. Hannum.

Schweiker's schedule is:

8:00 a.m.—Arrive Warren. Breakfast with community leaders, Blue Manor Restaurant, Liberty street.

9:00 a.m.—News Conference,

Blue Manor Restaurant, Warren.

10:45 a.m.—Arrive Oil City. Tour of business section.

12:00 p.m.—Arrive Franklin. Lunch with community leaders, Franklin Club Restaurant, 1340 Liberty avenue.

1:10 p.m.—Court House tour, Franklin.

3:00 p.m.—Arrive Clarion. Court House Tour. New conference on Court House steps.

5:30 p.m.—Arrive Butler. News conference, Horn of Plenty Restaurant, on Route 8. Dinner with community leaders, Horn of Plenty Restaurant.

9:00 p.m.—Arrive Mt. Lebanon Recreation Center, Washington road, South Hills. Speech to South Hills Evening ORT (refugee service organization).

Schweiker said that he will continue to spend "a great deal of time campaigning in Western Pennsylvania." "I want to make sure that everybody knows that Senator Clark was a Senator for twelve years before opening a Western office," Schweiker said. "I not only will have a Western Office, but I will serve Western Pennsylvanians during my entire six years, and not just when I am running for re-election," Schweiker stated.

Higher Education Agency Has New Headquarters

HARRISBURG — Stephen L. Delpero, Regional Representative for the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency, serving Beaver, Butler, Crawford, Erie, Lawrence, Mercer, Venango and Warren counties, has moved to new headquarters in the former Sharon Steel Corporation office building on South Irvine Avenue in Sharon, Pennsylvania.

In making this announcement, Kenneth R. Reicher, Executive Director of PHEAA, stated that:

"This move from present headquarters located in the Mercer County School Superintendent's Office in Mercer, Pennsylvania was due to the requirement for additional space by the County school staff. Sharon Steel Corporation recently donated their office building to the Shenango Valley Campus of The Pennsylvania State University to be used for the expansion of education facilities and student activities and we appreciate the opportunity to relocate our regional office in this building."

Delpero, who has been the consultant for the eight county area for almost two years, functions in the capacity of advisor to higher educational and financial institutions for both the State Scholarship and Guaranty Loan Programs. Both programs of financial assistance to needy and able students are administered by the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency.

State Police Clarify Motorcycle Licensing

State police have announced there is considerable confusion in regard to licensing for those operating motorcycles.

Recent legislation has made it mandatory for cyclists to pass a driver's test, the same as applies to operators of other vehicles on the highways.

It was noted Tuesday, however, that motorcyclists need not worry about appearing for tests until they receive their license renewal applications. Those who renewed their operators' licenses in August of 1968 will not be required to undergo an examination to operate a motorcycle until August of 1970.

Those currently being tested indicate on their drivers' licenses that Sept. 30, 1968 is the expiration date. These persons have or will receive license renewal applications. The same will hold true during the month of October.

During the winter months weather will prohibit motorcycles from being in operation. In the spring, these drivers may write to Harrisburg to apply for a special permit.

There are some restrictions connected with operating a motorcycle. Turn-downs may result from cycles with handle bars in excess of 15 inches above the saddle or clip-on handle bars. The vehicle must also be in good mechanical condition as to exhausts, lights and brakes.

Testing for motorcycle licensing was conducted Tuesday at Warren Airport. A detail from the Pennsylvania State Police substation in Franklin conduct driver examinations for other motor vehicles at the Armory every Tuesday and each second and fifth Thursday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Go-Go Girl Explains Intricacies of Profession

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — "Men appreciate go-go girls much more than they do topless dancers and strippers simply because a go-go girl's costume—even if it's only two band-aids and a rose—gives them a little more room to dream."

Pepper Martin, an appreciable 23-year-old go-go girl who measures 36-22-38, issued that informed statement while discussing the many intricacies of her profession.

"If men were interested only in seeing nudes," the brown-eyed brunette from Binghamton, N.Y., said, "there would be a lot more nudist colonies and fewer skinny strippers in this country."

Miss Martin, whose real name is Chyleena Valino, has been a hip-swinging go-go girl for four months.

"I really dig this job," Miss Martin said. "There is a kind of thrill that streaks through you when you step upon a stage and you know everyone will be watching you."

"Oh, the first night I appeared on the stage I was scared to death. My agent, Tiger Slazak, pushed me onto the stage and said I would have to sink or swim."

"I made it all right, but most of the shaking I did that night was purely out of nervousness. When I finished that performance, every muscle in my body ached."

How did Miss Martin, a former football cheerleader at Union-Endicott High School in Endwell, N.Y., become interested in a career as a go-go girl?

"Well," she said, "I always did like to dance, but the way I got started was strictly by accident. My friend, Phyllis Carpenter, who is one of the best topless dancers in the country got me interested in the idea."

"I was working as a waitress in Binghamton at the time. One day, while walking to work with a portable radio in my hand, Phyllis came up to me and asked me if I would like to become a go-go girl."

"You've got to be kidding, I'm not a dancer," "No kidding," Phyllis said, "the way you're swinging to the music on that radio you would be a perfect go-go girl."

During the past four months,

Miss Martin has appeared before in Mount Carmel, Pittston, Pottstown and Old Forge.

"A lot of things have happened to me since I started on the 'swing circuit,'" the 5-foot-2 hip-slinger said.

"One guy offered me a $1,000 to marry his cousin. It turned out he only wanted me to marry his cousin for one year so that his cousin, who is from Greece, could become a citizen of the United States."

"Probably the funniest thing that has happened to me happened during a performance in Pittston."

"I was going through my routine, a little swing here and a little swing there, when a guy came running up to the stage, grabbed me and carried me outside."

"We were no sooner outside, and another guy punched my abdomen in face; picked me up and carried me back to the stage in time for me to complete the number."

YOUNGVILLE BAND PERFORMS

The fine Youngville High School band, directed by Robert English, drew a standing ovation Tuesday morning from 500 county-wide teachers and principals meeting at War-

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 14-year-old girl who used to be very heavy. I got tired of being called Baby Hippo and Lardie and decided to do something about it. I went on a diet and lost 25 pounds. The weight loss has improved my looks 100 per cent and now I hate to think about the days when I was fat. So why do people keep reminding me?

Grownups who haven't seen me in a long time say, "My, but you look SO much better!" Or, "How much weight did you lose altogether?" It embarrasses me to death when a person ends a conversation with, "Keep up the good work," or some dumb thing like that. I intend to keep up the good work and I don't need to be told.

Please print this letter for all ex-fatties and tell people we don't want to be reminded of the past. It makes us ashamed and embarrassed. . . . TOUCHY GIRL

DEAR GIRL: You might feel a little less touchy after reading the next letter:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I used to be quite heavy. Last spring my doctor put me on a diet and I lost 22 pounds. I look 10 years younger and have more energy now than I have had in years. Yesterday I attended a church social and saw several women I had not seen since May. Not a single person mentioned a word about my weight loss. I know they must have noticed it because I wear a size 12 now instead of a 16, and these women are not blind. Why are some folks so mean? I went to that meeting feeling like a million dollars and came home feeling like two cents. — SATISFACTION DENIED

DEAR SAT: One woman's compliment is the next woman's insult. Some days it doesn't pay to get out of bed in the morning.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How can parents unspoil a couple of spoiled brats? We made the mistake of listening to too many so called experts on child rearing. We let our kids express themselves to the point where now we are afraid to express OURSELVES for fear of being told off.

My husband and I are intelligent people who have gone by the book and lost our own common sense. Our children have no respect for authority. They ignore us and do as they please. They act as if the world is divided into two warring factions—parents and children.

Is it ever too late to start? If not, how do we go about getting control of kids who are out of control? Please answer this letter in the paper. I'm sure there are thousands of equally bewildered parents who would appreciate some help. — BESIDE OURSELVES

DEAR BESIDE: How old are the spoiled brats? Are they 3 and 5, 8 and 11, or 15 and 17? Your question is comparable to asking a physician if a disease is curable without telling him how long you've had it.

A spoiled brat, like a skin rash, is easier to get under control if you catch it in the early stages. If your kids are 12 years of age or older you are going to need some outside help. And don't expect magic. It doesn't always work. But it's worth the try.

Alcohol is no shortcut to social success. If you think you have to drink to be accepted by your friends, get the facts. Read "Booze and You — For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Sandra Smith To Wed Dennis Devore

Mr. and Mrs. Cary C. Smith of R.D. 1, Pittsfield, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Sandra Lee, to Dennis Keith Devore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeVore of R.D. 1, Youngsville.

Retired Teachers Enjoy Outdoor Dinner Meeting

Twenty-five members of the Warren Boro Retired Teachers Association were entertained at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Gallor in Sheffield recently for the August meeting. A dinner was prepared by the committee and served in the outdoor setting of flowers and rock garden on the lawn of Mrs. Evelyn Gallor's home in Sheffield. Miss Lauretta Dunkle and Mrs. Clementine Carlson assisted the hostess.

Miss Alice Anderson had charge of the business meeting which followed. Plans were made for the District Meeting which is to be held at the Cross Creek Country Club this Friday, September 6.

Miss Anderson reported on Social Service work conducted in the Venango and Erie Counties, and Mrs. Edna Stone reported on Warren County. Both ladies will represent the local association at the State Retired Teachers Convention in Harrisburg on October 4, 5, and 6. The regular September meeting of the Warren group will be held at Cross Creek on the day of the District Meeting.

Upton-Curry Wedding In California

Janice Deanna Upton became the bride of Kenneth Dale Curry on Friday evening, August 23, at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church, Santa Ana, California. Dr. Daniel G. Rider, minister of the church, performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of approximately three hundred guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Duane Upton, former Warren County residents, now of 705 S. Cedar street, Santa Ana, California. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Curry also of Santa Ana, California.

Church organist Gerald W. Van Deventer played various selections, and as the couple knelt before the altar, played "The Lord's Prayer." During the ceremony the bride and groom each took a candle from the three branch candelabra and lit the center one, thus showing the two lives becoming one.

White gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums with blue bows decorated the urns and the lighted seven-branch candelabra on the altar; a similar basket was in the narthex of the church. Candelighters were Steven Curry and Richard Strehle. The candlelit aisle of the church created a beautiful effect for the approach of the bride attendants and the bride who was escorted on the arm of her father.

The bride was gowned in a floor length, cage of white Chantilly lace over satin. Sequins ornamented the bodice and elbow length bell sleeves. The neckline, sleeves and train were scalloped and the detachable train was also designed with sequins. Her bouffant veil of English imported silk illusion was secured with a flower of the same material and was accented with sequins and seed pearls. She carried a 105-year-old white ribbon covered Bible which had belonged to her great-grandfather, the Rev. James Watson. Atop the Bible was her bridal bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath, centered with two white orchids.

Mrs. Juanita Colora, the bride's only sister of Whittier, Calif., served as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Eileen Curry, sister of the groom; Miss Janet Stewart, cousin of the bride; Miss Sandra Bennett, Miss Roberta Haxton and Miss Violet Smith. All are Santa Ana residents except Miss Stewart who is from Youngsville, Penna. The bridesmaids wore floor length gowns of light blue crepe over silk and satin back panels. The matron of honor was similarly dressed in maize. Each attendant's headpiece was a matching bouffant veil secured with satin roses. Each carried a cascade of yellow pom poms centered with a yellow orchid and with blue ribbon trim; the matron of honor carried a similar one but with two orchids and maize ribbon trim.

The flower girl was Miss Beth Eby of Santa Ana who wore a similarly styled frock of maize and carried a basket of yellow pom poms.

The best man was Donald Curry, brother of the groom from Santa Ana. Ushers were Richard Strehle of Covina, California, a four-year college roommate of the groom; Floyd Wight of Santa Ana; and three cousins of the groom — Steven Curry of Newport Beach, California; Darrel Blackwood of Santa Ana; and Gary Kothe of Orange, Calif.

The mother of the bride was attired in blue lace over silk with beige accessories. The mother of the groom was in celery with matching accessories. Both had orchid corsages. The grandmothers of the groom, Mrs. George T. Wood and Mrs. John T. Curry, both of Santa Ana, were also given orchid corsages and the groom's grandfather, John T. Curry, received a boutonniere.

The reception was held in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony. The three tier wedding cake was topped with a wedding cross and a miniature bride and groom. The color scheme was carried out in blue and yellow in keeping with that of the wedding. Aides were Mrs. Julian Stewart, cousin of the bride, from Youngsville; and Miss Marie Curry, aunt of the groom, from Orange, Calif. The reception was in charge of the Wedding Guild of the church. Aides were Miss Joann Blackwood, cousin of the groom, Kent Stewart, Miss Vicki Conway. All are Santa Ana residents.

The new Mrs. Curry chose a white dress with a touch of yellow trim and a yellow coat with white and yellow accessories for her wedding trip. She also wore the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Santa Ana High School and took a course at Santa Ana Junior College this summer. She was employed in the law offices of Donahue, Katnik, Katnik and Liechty for one year. The groom is a 1964 graduate of Santa Ana High School and received his B.A. Degree from Redlands University in June.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Miss Elizabeth Kelly and Miss Sandra Bennett at the home of Mrs. Robert Kelly; Mrs. Earl Henry; Mrs. Roy Curry; Mrs. John T. Curry; and the Baptist Youth Fellowship held a farewell party for the couple at the church.

The bridesmaids' luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Hal Eby. The rehearsal dinner was given at the church on Thursday evening by the parents of the groom and was catered by Mrs. Steve Denham. The Bachelors party was held at the home of Floyd Wight.

Among the many out of town guests who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Julian Stewart and daughter, Janet, of Youngsville.

On Sunday, the new bride and groom along with nineteen other members of the family attended Baptist Church services together; and a dinner was then held at the Roy Curry home for the immediate families. The young couple then left for Rochester, New York where they will reside and where the groom will attend Colgate Rochester Divinity School this fall. Enroute to Rochester, they are spending some time with relatives and friends in the Warren County area.

Date Is Named

LeAnne Sue Rinkel

Mr. and Mrs. E. Clark Rinkel of Pratt, Kansas, announce the engagement of their daughter, LeAnne Sue, to Phillip LeRoy Ferry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ferry of R. D. No. 1, Pittsfield.

Miss Rinkel was graduated from Pratt High School and attended Pratt Community College. She is employed by Val-Ray Flowers in Pratt. Her fiancé graduated from Youngsville High School and is employed by J. S. Dillons in Dodge City, Kansas.

The wedding will take place on October 12, in Pratt.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR FOLKS:
What's that old saying about "Who forgot the mustard?"
Anyway, on a recent picnic I forgot it. Now what's a hamburger without mustard? We did happen to have some bottled barbecue sauce which one usually puts on chicken and steaks, so I used that.

"Twas wonderful! I've never heard of a barbecued hamburger, but since that forgetful day, we have them all the time.

The sauce may be applied as you cook the meat over the grill or just poured on top of the meat after it is pan-fried. I found you could get more of that delicious tasting sauce on the sandwich if you would also pour it on the bun itself. Sure does change the taste of the old, ordinary hamburger. So why not try my scrumptious Bar-B-Cue Burger?

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
When I took the skirt off our baby's bassinet, I didn't want to wrap it up and put it away. So I decided to use it as a ruffled skirt for the baby crib.

I cut the skirt down the side seam, making a long strip. Then placed it under the mattress on top of the springs, enough so that it would hang just the right length. It was lovely.

Since I use the area under the crib for storage space which doesn't show now, the ruffle serves two purposes.

Mrs. Louis Gatto

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:
On weekdays I exercise with those fellows on television. But on weekends I never exercise because I don't like to do it alone. Then I hit on a plan. I could get all the exercise

I need while ironing! While I'm ironing things that don't need lots of attention, I run "in place." Then when I'm ironing clothes that require concentration, I wait until I finish each piece, then I run around the room for two minutes.

Besides, my husband said if I lost ten pounds he would buy me a new wardrobe. But, Heloise, it will be a NO-IRON wardrobe—because I hate to iron!

An Ardent Reader

DEAR HELOISE:
When teaching your young children to print their name, remember that first graders don't print in all capital letters. They begin to learn the difference in upper and lower case letters from the first day.

So teach your child to print "Sharon" rather than "SHARON", for it shakes up a youngster when the teacher tells him he can't print the way he was taught at home!

RABBI DR. B. A. POUPKO

50th Anniversary For Synagogue

The Warren Hebrew Congregation of Tiphereth Israel Synagogue will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary on Sunday evening, September 8. Special recognition and honors will be given to four of the original charter members, Charles Punskey, Louis Segel, Aaron Shulman, all of Warren, and David Kanovsky who now resides in Kane.

The evening will begin at 6:30 when a dinner will be served. The entire evening's program has been arranged under the general chairmanship of Harry Segel. The speaker for the evening will be a nationally known religious leader, Rabbi Dr. Bernard A. Poupko, now serving his 26th year as head of the Shaare Torah Congregation in Pittsburgh.

In addition to being chairman of the Rabbinical Board of Greater Pittsburgh and vice president of the Rabbinical Council of America, Rabbi Poupko has contributed hundreds of scholarly and popular writings here and abroad. He recently returned from a visit to Soviet Russia where he addressed Soviet Jewry from the pulpit of the single Moscow Synagogue, and has since written a series of articles on the plight of Soviet Jewry. A number of former members of the Warren congregation are expected to be in Warren for this special occasion. Members of the program committee assisting the chairman with arrangements are, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Levinson, Hershel Kanovsky, Nahum Levinson, Harry J. Punskey.

RACE WITH JACKAL

WINDHOEK, South West Africa (AP) — Farmer G. Drotsche ran down a jackal on foot here, a feat previously thought by locals to be impossible. He chased the animal, at times following its tracks, for 12 miles before he cornered it "deadbeat and unable to go any further." A farmhand arrived with dogs which killed the jackal.

BAKERY

we care

"a bit more" is what makes our white bread better!

We're talking of course about Jane Parker White Bread.

We use a bit more milk than we have to, to give you a richer loaf.
We never use milk substitutes.

We use a bit more shortening than we have to,
to give you a softer loaf... the way you like it.

We use a bit more sugar than we have to,
to give Jane Parker more flavor.

We do one more thing that hardly anybody does.
We date our Jane Parker White Bread.

It's the only absolute guarantee of freshness you have... unless you bake your own.

And speaking of guarantees,
we unconditionally guarantee you'll like it.

So, you see, we really do do "a bit more."
Since Jane Parker Bread is sold only at A&P, shouldn't A&P be your store?

3 In Memoriam

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our son a n d brother, CHARLES GERARDE who was taken from us one year ago today, September 4, 1967.
We sit and think of you each day,
And think of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye,
Before you closed your eyes,
Our hearts still ache with sadness.
Our eyes shed many a tear,
God knows how much we miss you
As it ends the one long year.
Sadly missed by Mother,
Father, Brothers a n d Sisters.
